Each inspector and deputy inspector shall certify all his official acts with the seal herein provided for, and shall deliver his seal of office, and all books, papers or records, relating to his office, to his successor.

Sec. 6. It shall be the duty of the inspector, in person or by deputy, to faithfully examine and inspect all hides or animals known or reported to him as sold, or as leaving or going out of the county for sale or shipment, and all animals driven or sold in his district for slaughter, to packeries or butcheries; and the inspector shall keep a record, in a well bound book, in which he shall record a true and correct statement of the numbers, ages, marks and brands of all animals inspected by him, and the number, weight, mark and brand of all hides inspected by him, and whether the same are dry or green, and the name or names of the vendor or vendors, and of the purchaser or purchasers thereof; and he shall return a certified copy of all entries made in such record during each month to the clerk of the district court of the county on the last day of each month, which report shall be filed among the records of the county court. The book of record herein provided for shall at all times be open for the inspection of any person interested therein; provided, this act shall not be so construed as to include sheep, goats, swine, or hides of either, nor to involve the reinspection of salted hides in packeries, or other slaughter houses, taken from animals previously inspected and returned, as provided in this section.

Sec. 7. Each inspector shall prevent the sale of all unbranded hides or animals, or of hides or animals, upon which the marks or brands cannot be ascertained, and shall prevent the same from being taken or shipped out of the county, unless the same be identified by proof, or by exhibiting a bill of sale, duly signed by the person proved to be the owner of such hides or animals, and acknowledged before some officer authorized to authenticate instruments for record in this State.

Sec. 8. Every inspector shall have power to, and may seize and condemn all unmarked or unbranded calves or yearlings, and all calves or yearlings freshly marked or branded, and on which the fresh marks or brands are unhealed, which are about to be slaughtered or driven or shipped out of the country, unless such animals are accompanied by the mothers thereof, or are identified by the presentation of a bill of sale from the person proved to be the owner thereof, signed by him or his legally authorized agent, and acknowledged before some officer authorized to authenticate instruments for record in this State.

Sec. 9. Every inspector shall have power to, and may seize and condemn all unbranded animals or hides, and animals or hides, upon which the mark or brand cannot be ascertained, which are about to be taken or shipped out of the county, or which animals are about to be slaughtered, unless such animals or hides are identified as provided in section eight of this act.

Sec. 10. Every person who shall buy or drive any animal or animals for sale or shipment out of any county in this State, or who shall buy or drive any animal or animals for slaughter, shall, at the time of purchasing, and before driving the same, procure a bill of sale from the owner or owners thereof, or from his or their legally authorized agent, which bill of sale shall be in writing, properly signed and acknowledged before some officer authorized to authenticate instruments for record in this State. Such bill of sale shall distinctly enumerate the number, kind and age of animals sold, together with all the marks and brands discernible on said animals, and shall also procure a certificate from the district clerk of said county that the marks and brands so described in said bill of sale are the marks and brands recorded in this office as the marks and brands of the party selling the same. Said animals shall, before leaving the county in which they have been gathered, be inspected by the inspector of such county or his deputy.

Sec. 11. Every person who shall purchase any hides of cattle shall, at the time of purchasing the same, obtain from the owner thereof, or from his legally authorized agent, a bill of sale in writing, certified to by the inspector, which bill of sale shall recite in full the marks and brands of each hide, the weight thereof, and whether the same is dry or green.

Sec. 12. Whenever an inspector shall have inspected any animal or animals as herein provided, he shall, on the presentation of a bill of sale or power of attorney from the owner or owners of such animal or animals, or his or their agent, duly authorized in writing, which bill of sale, power of attorney or authority of agent shall be in writing, duly signed and acknowledged by the person executing the same, before some officer authorized to authenticate instruments for record in this State, and on payment to said inspector of the fees hereinafter provided for, deliver to the purchaser of the animals mentioned in such bill of sale or power of attorney, or his agent, a certificate setting forth that he has carefully examined and inspected such animal or animals, and that said purchaser has in all respects complied with the provisions of this act, which certificate shall not be complete until the same, and the bill of sale herein provided for, shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county, and be certified to by said clerk under his hand and seal. Such certificate shall then be delivered to the purchaser or purchasers, and shall protect him or them from the payment of inspection fees in any other district in the State for the animals therein described.

Sec. 13. Any person or persons driving cattle in his or their own mark and brand shall be entitled to the certificate of inspection hereinbefore provided for, on payment of the fees to the inspector hereinafter provided for, and on presentation to the inspector of the certificate of the clerk of the district court of the county where such mark and brand is recorded, to the effect that the mark and brand named therein is duly recorded in his office as the mark and brand of the person so driving such cattle.

Sec. 14. Any person or persons who shall drive any cattle to market beyond the limits of this State shall, before removing such cattle from the county where the same are gathered, place upon each and every animal so to be driven, a large and plain road brand, composed of any device he may choose, which brand shall be branded on the left side of the back behind the shoulder; and every person or persons using or causing to be used any road brand shall place the same on record, as in case of other brands, in the county from which the animals upon which said brand is to be placed are to be driven, and before their removal from such county.

Sec. 15. Any person intending to drive or ship any animal or animals to the Republic of Mexico, may ship the same from any point on the coast of Texas, or may drive or ship them across the Rio Grande river at any point where a custom house of the United States is located, and shall not drive or ship such animal or animals across the Rio Grande river at any point or points; and he shall cause all such animals to be inspected by the inspector of the district in which the point of shipment or place at which they are to be driven across said river is situated. Such inspection shall be made before shipment from the State or passage across the said river of the said animals.

Sec. 16. Any person may ship from any port of this State any hides or animals imported into this State from Mexico, and shall not be required to have the same inspected; provided, he has first obtained the certificate of the inspector or deputy inspector of the county into which the same were imported certifying the date of the importation thereof, the name of the importer, and of the owner, and of the person in charge of the same, the name of the place where the same were imported, together with the number of hides and animals so imported and a description of their marks and brands (if any there be), by which the same might be identified.

Sec. 17. Inspectors and their deputies shall be allowed to charge and collect the same fees for the services which they are authorized to perform by the terms of section sixteen of this act, as are allowed in other cases as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 18. Any person or persons having marks and brands recorded in the office of the clerk of the district court, may file with the inspector a list of his recorded marks and brands, certified by the said clerk, under his seal, to which certified list shall be attached the names of any person or persons whom the owner of said stock may wish to authorize to gather, drive, or otherwise handle his stock; and the filing of said list with the inspector shall be deemed sufficient authority to the person or persons named in such list to gather, drive or otherwise handle any animals of the marks and brands therein described.

Sec. 19. In all cases where the counter-branding of any cattle shall be deemed necessary or expedient, the person so counter-branding shall counter-brand the existing brand of the animal (by which the owner thereof is then known, or by which it is then claimed and owned), by branding below the said brand its fac simile, that is, similar letters, characters or numbers, as the case may be; and he shall also place on said animal the brand of the then owner thereof; but no person shall change or alter the ear marks of any animal, but in counter-branding shall leave the ears bearing the same mark or marks as before counter-branding.

Sec. 20. No person owning and claiming stock, shall, in originally marking and branding animals, make use of more than one mark and brand, which shall be duly recorded, designated on what part of the animal said brand shall be placed; provided, that any person may own and possess animals in many marks and brands, the same having been by him lawfully acquired; and bills of sale in writing, duly authenticated from the previous owner or owners, or his or their legally constituted agent, shall be sufficient evidence of purchase; but the increase of such animals, or of any animals counter-branded by such person from other stocks of cattle owned by him, and all animals so counter-branded, shall be branded or counter-branded by one and the same brand; and, when marked by such person, shall be marked in one and the same mark.

Sec. 21. The clerk of the district court in each county shall transcribe the list of all recorded marks and brands in his county and revise the same. Such revised list shall be written in a well-bound book, kept for that purpose only, and shall be arranged as follows, viz: All brands of the letter class shall be placed in alphabetical order, following which shall be the numeral character and device brands, in the order of the date of their registration. Opposite each brand shall be stated the mark corresponding to said brand, the name of the owner of the brand, his place of residence; if the same be sold, the name of the person to whom sold, and his residence, the date of registration of the brand, and remarks or particulars relating thereto. Before each brand shall be placed its number, commencing at one for the first brand on the revised list, and the name of the owner of each brand shall be indexed, reference being had in such index to the list number of the brand or brands of such owner; and all new marks and brands placed of record shall be immediately recorded and indexed in said book, which shall at all times be open to the inspection of person interested therein.

Sec. 22. In all cases where application for the registration of any mark or brand shall be made, the clerk of the district court shall receive and record the same, unless an examination of the recorded list of marks and brands shows that a similar mark and brand is already upon record in such county, in which event he shall refuse to register or give any certificate for the same; provided, such applicant shall have previously had such mark and brand recorded in some other county, and shall have a certificate from the clerk of the county where said brand had been recorded, and if said certificate shall state that said brand and mark had been recorded in said county at some time anterior to the time of the registration of the similar mark and brand in the county in which the said applicant may desire to have his brand recorded, in which event said brand shall be recorded, and the clerk shall make a minute setting forth said facts.

Sec. 23. Every inspector or deputy inspector provided for in this act shall be allowed to charge and collect from the person or persons for whom the inspection shall be made, the sum of ten cents for each and every animal or hide inspected by him, where the number inspected at any one time, and for one person, does not exceed one hundred, and the sum of eight cents for each animal or hide inspected by him where the number so inspected shall exceed one hundred, and less than two hundred, and six cents for any number over two hundred so inspected.

Sec. 24. Each clerk of the district court shall be allowed to collect the sum of fifteen cents for each hundred words in recording and certifying to every bill of sale provided for in this act, and the sum of seventy-five cents for recording each mark and brand, and certificate thereof, and such compensation for revising the list of registered marks and brands of cattle stocks in his county as the county court may allow.

Sec. 25. Wherever, in this act, the word "inspector" is used, it shall be deemed and taken to be "The Inspector of Hides and Animals;" and the words "deputy inspector" shall be taken and deemed to mean "Deputy Inspector of Hides and Animals;" and the words "county," "district," or "inspection district," shall be held to include each organized county in this State, together with any unorganized counties that may be attached for judicial purposes, to any such county.

Sec. 26. All marks and brands of cattle shall be recorded in the county or counties in which they usually range; provided, that where cattle are gathered near the county line, the bills of sale of the same shall be recorded in both counties; and when any stock of cattle is sold, the fact shall be noted on the record, opposite or near the record of its mark and brand, giving the name of the vendor and vendee, and date of sale, and this shall be done as often as there be a sale. It is made the duty of the inspector to procure certified copies of the marks and brands of his county for himself and his deputies, and monthly to have added thereto the marks and brands that may be recorded.

Sec. 27. It is made the duty of the inspector and his deputies carefully and personally to inspect and examine each animal separately, so as to see and know himself the marks and brands, ages, sexes and number of cattle inspected, and shall not trust to the statement of any person, and shall also carefully examine the bills of sale and lists of brands and marks for the cattle inspected by him; and, if satisfied that the person claiming the cattle inspected has correct bills of sale or chain of transfer in writing from the recorded owner, or is the owner himself, in whole or part, of the mark and brand of each animal in his drove or herd which should be inspected, and that he has none in his said inspected herd or under his control to be carried with it, he will then, and not till then, make out a certificate, under his hand and seal, containing the number of cattle in each mark and brand, with their respective ages and sexes, thus inspected, and that they appear to be the property of the person for whom they were inspected, naming him or her, as appears by bills of sale from the recorded owner of the said marks and brands on the cattle inspected by him, or the owner of the brand and mark himself or herself, and has none other in his herd or under his control that should be inspected, and that he intends to drive or ship them to (naming the place in the State), for sale or slaughter, (or, if out of the State, he shall then name the place on the border of the State). And when he reaches said place of destination in this State, before he shall sell or slaughter, or ship any of the said cattle, he shall have them inspected there; and it is made the duty of that inspector or deputy to carefully inspect all the cattle belonging to the herd in the manner prescribed for the first inspection, and compare the certificate of the first inspector with the cattle; and if it appear that he has none in his herd or under his control but those mentioned or described in the inspector's certificate, he will so certify in duplicate, and under his hand and seal, giving the date of the first certificate, by whom made, in what county, and the number of cattle found by him in each mark and brand, with ages and sexes. One of these certificates the inspector will immediately remit by mail, postage paid, to the first inspector, and the party will deposit the other with him in two months from the date of the original inspection, both to be kept by him in his office; and the inspector, at the point of destination, shall carefully examine and know, if possible, whether he has cattle under his control other than those originally inspected; and if he has, then he will take charge of the same and sell them as if under execution, or, if not voluntarily delivered to him, then he may sue for and sequester them without giving bond or security; and by order of the justice of the peace, or district judge of the court where the suit may be instituted, on application of said inspector or his successors, the cattle shall be sold in like manner, and the proceeds of sale, less one-fourth retained by him for compensation and costs of suit, to be deposited with the county treasurer for the owner of the cattle sold for one year; if not called for to vest in the county. He will also file with the treasurer a statement of the number in each mark and brand sold, and amount each sold for. If the owner of the inspected herd should desire to sell, slaughter or ship the cattle, or any of them, at any other than the place of destination named in the certificate of inspection, he may do so by first having his herd inspected and certificate made and returned in the manner prescribed at the point of destination, so far as applicable; and the duties of such inspector shall be the same as those prescribed for inspectors at places of destination.

Sec. 28. Every inspector shall have authority to authenticate bills of sale of animals, and give certificates of acknowledgment of the same, under his hand and seal, and shall be allowed to collect fifty cents for every acknowledgment so taken.

Sec. 29. Every inspector who shall give any certificate of inspection, without first having made the inspection in accordance with the twenty-seventh section of this act, or shall fraudulently issue a certificate of inspection of any hides or animals, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, and in addition thereto shall be removed from his office by a decree of the court trying the same.

Sec. 34. Any person who shall ship from any port of this State any hides of cattle imported from Mexico, without first having procured a certificate of importation and inspection, as provided in section sixteenth of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than one dollar nor more than five dollars, for each hide so shipped.

Sec. 35. Any person who shall sell any hides of cattle without the same having been inspected, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than one dollar, nor more than five dollars for each hide so sold.

Sec. 36. Any person who shall drive any cattle out of any county not hereinafter excepted, with the intention of driving the same beyond the limits of this State to a market, without first having road-branded the same in accordance with the fourteenth section of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each animal so driven.

Sec. 37. Any person who shall drive any cattle or horses out of any county without the written authority of the owner thereof, duly authenticated, as the law requires, and without first having the same duly inspected, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars per head for each animal so driven.

as herein provided, the officer making the levy, or the plaintiff or the defendant, may apply to the justice of the peace issuing the warrant for an order to sell such property; and if any person other than the defendant apply for such order of sale, the justice shall not grant such order unless the person applying shall file with such justice an obligation, payable to the defendant, with one or more good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by said justice, that they will be responsible to the defendant for such damages as he may sustain in case such sale be illegally and unjustly applied for, or be illegally and unjustly made, which sale shall be conducted as sales under execution.

Sec. 4. It shall be the duty of the justice of the peace, at the time he issues the warrant, to issue a citation to the defendant, requiring him to answer before such justice, if he has jurisdiction to finally try the cause, and upon its being returned served, or in case the defendant has removed from the county without service, to proceed to judgment as in ordinary cases; and if he has not such jurisdiction, the citation shall require the defendant to answer before the district court, and shall be returned with the other papers to such court; provided, that if the defendant has removed from the county, the proper officer shall state this fact in his return on the citation; and provided, further, that in case the return is made to the district court, the plaintiff shall not be obliged to file his petition before suing out said warrant, but may file the same on or before the appearance day of the term of the court to which said papers are returnable; and further provided, that no other formalities shall be required from those mentioned in this act.

Sec. 5. Nothing in this act contained shall be so construed as to prevent landlords and tenants from entering into such stipulations or contracts in regard to rents and advances as they may think proper; and should the landlord, without any default on the part of the tenant or lessee, fail to comply in any respect with his part of the contract, he shall be responsible to said tenant or lessee for whatever damage may be sustained thereby; and to secure such damages to such tenant or lessee, he shall have a lien on all the property in his possession not exempt from forced sale, as well as upon all rents due to said landlord under said contract.

Sec. 14. That the surveyor aforesaid shall give to such applicant who complies with the requirements of this act a certificate to that effect, designating the quarter section or parts of quarter section by him purchased.

Sec. 15. That the obligation so entered into by the purchaser of the said land shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of the General Land Office by the surveyor, and the said commissioner shall have the same recorded in a well bound book kept for that purpose, and he shall deliver the said obligations to the Treasurer of the State, who shall carefully file the same in his office.

Sec. 18. That upon the presentation of the receipt of the Treasurer of the State by any purchaser of said lands, for any amount due by him on his obligation to the Commissioner of the General Land Office, said Commissioner shall cause to be entered a credit on said purchaser's account for said sum, and the date of payment, and issue to him a certificate showing such payment.

Sec. 19. That should the purchaser fail to pay the annual installments, together with the interest thereon, to the Treasurer, and present his receipt to the Commissioner of the General Land Office, on or before the first day of March following the maturity thereof, said Commissioner shall notify the Treasurer of such failure, who shall endorse on such obligation a statement of such failure, and sign his name thereto, and said purchaser shall forfeit all his right and interest in said land.

Sec. 22. In case said purchaser desires to sell such lands after he has settled upon the same, as above provided, he may do so; but in that event his vendee shall substitute his obligation in lieu of the obligation of his vendor, and settle upon the same in accordance with section thirteen of this act.

Sec. 23. Said lands shall be subject to taxation from date of purchase.

Sec. 24. That the proceeds arising from the sale of such lands shall be paid into the University fund.

Sec. 25. Upon final and full payment on any purchase made under the provisions of this act, the Commissioner of the General Land Office shall issue a patent to the purchaser making the same, or to his vendee or heirs.

Sec. 27. In case any portion of the said University lands are not sold and taken up by actual settlers, as provided for in this act, any other person may purchase the same at not less than the minimum price fixed by the commissioners, and upon the same terms as actual settlers; provided, that no person other than an actual settler shall be permitted to purchase less than one hundred and sixty acres; and provided further, that if under the provisions of this section any improved lands should be sold, the purchaser thereof shall pay for the enhanced value of said land by reason of improvements, in addition to the appraised value thereof, which enhanced value shall be assessed under oath by two disinterested freeholders of the county where situated; and by them at the cost of the purchaser be reported to the Commissioner of the General Land Office, who shall add the same to the appraised value of said land under this act, and where other than a settler applies for purchase, his application shall be accompanied by his affidavit, stating that there is no actual settler on the land, and stating further whether it is improved or unimproved.

Sec. 28. That wherever such University lands have heretofore been surveyed, and maps of such surveys exist in the Land Office, the Governor shall, as soon as practicable after the passage of this act, appoint the appraisers, and the land may be sold as soon thereafter as practicable in compliance with the rules and forms prescribed in this act.

The amount for which they shall all be so liable shall not exceed the amount of such dividend; and if any of the directors shall be absent at the time of making the dividend, or shall object thereto at the time such dividend is declared, and shall file their objection in writing with the secretary or other officer of the corporation having charge of the books, they shall be exempted from the said liability.

Sec. 15. Said lands shall be subject to taxation from date of purchase.

Sec. 16. That the proceeds arising from the sale of such lands shall be paid into the common school fund, the principal to be invested in United States bonds, and the interest arising therefrom to be applied to the use of common schools.

Joint Resolution, asking our Senators and Representatives in Congress to procure an appropriation by Congress to improve the navigation of Soda Lake and Cypress Bayou.

Whereas, The increasing productions and commerce of this State make it essential that the facilities for transportation should be improved to meet the demands of the country, and

Whereas, Soda Lake and Cypress Bayous, tributaries of Red River, are the only reliable navigable streams in Eastern and Northern Texas, and which connect that portion of the State with the great navigable waters of the whole Union, and furnish speedy and cheap facilities for the interchange of commodities of this State, with the other sections of the country, and

Whereas, from the report of competent United States engineers it is found that at a cost of about the sum of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000) for the construction of locks and dams and improving the channels, the navigation of these streams and bayous can be made permanent, certain and reliable; and that the great floods from upper Red River can be diverted into these lakes, and much valuable lands be reclaimed from overflow above, and protected from overflow below, and a reservoir formed that will serve as a feeder for Red River during the summer months, and thereby perpetuate the navigation in said stream, therefore

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress be furnished with a copy of these resolutions by the Secretary of State, and that they are hereby requested to use their efforts to procure an appropriation by Congress, of a sum sufficient to improve said navigation in said streams in such manner as the engineers may recommend, and

Sec. 2. Be it further resolved, That our Senators and Representatives be requested to urge Congress to make the city of Jefferson a port of entry and delivery.

Approved March 12, 1874.

[No. 10.]

Joint Resolution instructing and requesting our Congressional Delegation to urge upon Congress the speedy reimbursement of Henry Warren, for Losses incurred by reason of the destruction of his Wagon Train and other property, by the Comanche, Kiawa, and Cheyenne Indians.

Whereas, On the eighteenth day of May, eighteen hundred and seventy-one Henry Warren, a citizen of the State of Texas, being then engaged as a government contractor in the supplying of forage at the military posts of Forts Griffin and Richardson, and using in his business wagons and mules for the purpose of transporting said supplies of forage, had in service upon the public highway, between Jackboro, Texas, and Fort Griffin, Texas, and in the county of Young, a train of ten wagons loaded with forage for the United States Government, and engaged in the faithful performance of his contract, said property was totally destroyed, seven of the teamsters of the train, (all citizens of Texas), being brutally murdered without cause or provocation, and all the mules belonging to said train being taken and carried away by a party of marauding Indians from the Fort Sill reservation, under the leadership of Santanta and Big Tree, Kiawa chiefs, without any fault or negligence on the part of the said Henry Warren, to his great loss and detriment in business; and

Whereas, On the twenty-fifth day of August, eighteen hundred and seventy-one, another of the wagon trains belonging to the said Henry Warren, consisting of seven wagons loaded with forage for the United States Government, to be delivered at Fort Griffin, Texas, while on the public highway between Weatherford, Texas, and Fort Griffin, Texas, and in the county of Jack, was attacked by a party of marauding Cheyenne Indians, from the Cheyenne and Arapahoe agency, in the Indian territory, and twenty-two of the mules belonging to said train were taken and carried away by the said Indians, to the great loss and detriment in business to the said Henry Warren; and

Whereas, The said Henry Warren has by reason of the raids of the said Indians as aforesaid, sustained a loss and damage of thirty-six thousand four hundred and eighty-five dollars, ($36,485,) as fully set forth by his claim, now on file in the Department of the Interior, and to be submitted to the action of the United States Congress; and

Whereas, A period of three years has elapsed since the losses and damages as aforesaid were sustained by the said Henry Warren, his said claims having been promptly presented with full and sufficient proof of their correctness and justness, and this long delay having worked a great hardship and loss in business to the said Henry Warren, and up to this late date the government having granted him no relief; and

Whereas, The said Indian chiefs, Santanta and Big Tree, leaders of the raid on said Henry Warren's property, and engaged in the murder of his teamsters as aforesaid, were arrested, duly tried and convicted by a court of competent jurisdiction, to-wit: the District Court of Jack county, State of Texas, and sentenced to death for their crimes as aforesaid, have been, at the special and urgent solicitation and request of officers and agents of the United States Government, released and set at large by the Executive of the State of Texas, and the said Santanta and Big Tree being still at large, suffering no punishment for their crimes, and the said Big Tree being frequently and actively engaged in further depredations on the lives and property of the citizens of the State of Texas; therefore,

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That our Representatives in Congress be requested and our Senators instructed to urge upon the Congress of the United States the justness of the claims of said Henry Warren, as well as all other claims for similar depredations, which may be now on file in the Indian bureau, from citizens of the State of Texas, and the speedy passage of a bill or bills for their relief, reimbursing them for their losses incurred and damages sustained from these marauding Indians, from the United States Government reservation in the Indian territory.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That, whereas House bill No. 182, originating in the House of Representatives, entitled "An Act to authorize the Police court of Leon county to levy and collect a special tax to build a jail, and which said bill, under all of the forms of law, passed the Thirteenth Legislature of the State of Texas, and was on the second day of June, A. D. 1873, at 10:25 o'clock a. m., presented to his Excellency the Governor of the State for his approval, and the said Governor having failed to approve the same, or return the same to the House of Representatives, where it originated, with his objections to the same, said act did, under the constitution, become a law, which said act is in words and figures as follows: "An Act to authorize the police court of Leon county to levy and collect a special tax to build a jail:"

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That the Police Court of the county of Leon is hereby authorized to levy a special tax of not more than one-third of one per cent. ad valorem on each one hundred dollars worth of the value of the taxable property in said county, also a tax of not more than fifty cents on each poll in said county; also a tax of not more than one-tenth of the tax levied and collected by the State for occupation or license upon any trade or profession taxed by the State in said county; and said court is authorized to levy said special tax for the years A. D. 1873, A. D. 1874, and A. D. 1875, or any or either of said years as they may deem necessary; and that the taxes herein provided shall be assessed and collected as any other State or county taxes under the general tax laws of this State.

Sec. 2. That the money arising from taxes under the first section of this act shall only be expended and appropriated by said police court for the purpose of purchasing a lot of land on which to erect a jail-house for said county, and for the erection of a suitable house for said jail, and in connection with said jail room or rooms for a jailor, and for the proper furnishing of said jail and jailor's rooms, and to properly enclose said jail lot, and such other matters as may be deemed necessary by said court in connection with said jail.

Sec. 3. That after the payment by said court of all demands and expenses arising under the second section of this act, if any balance of said funds is left in the county treasury, the court may appropriate such balance to repairs for the courthouse of the county, or for enclosing with a proper fence the courthouse yard.

Sec. 4. The taxes imposed under the first section of this act shall only be payable and collectable in money, and shall be payable into the county treasury in money, and shall only be paid out by the county treasurer on draft of the court, specially stating that it is in liquidation of debt on jail fund.

It shall be the judge of the qualifications and election of the members of the council, including the mayor. It may punish members or other persons during the sittings of the council for disorderly conduct, to the extent that it may fine and imprison by its by-laws and ordinances; and with the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the whole number of aldermen elected and qualified, the council may remove any officer of the city, from his office, for any conduct or offense which, in the opinion of the council, expressed by the two-thirds vote as aforesaid, shall render him unfit to hold his office; but no officer shall be removed until he shall have had the opportunity of being heard by himself, or counsel, or both.

Sec. 11. That the meeting of the council shall be held with open doors, except when by a vote of two-thirds of the members present it may be deemed expedient upon a special question to deliberate with closed doors.

Sec. 12. That whenever it shall be necessary so to do, the board of aldermen shall by ballot elect a member of their own body to act for a designated period as mayor pro tem., who, for the time, shall have and exercise all the powers and authority of the mayor.

Sec. 13. That in case of a vacancy occurring in any office elective by the qualified voters of the city, the city council shall order an election to fill the vacancy upon giving ten days notice thereof, which election shall be held and conducted in the same manner, and under the same rules and regulations prescribed for the holding of general elections in the city.

Sec. 14. That there shall be elected by the board of aldermen as soon after its organization as practicable, a city recorder, the secretary and treasurer, the city marshal, the assessor and collector, the city attorney, the street commissioner, and the city sexton, who shall hold office for the term of one year, and until their successors are elected and qualified; and the election of said officers named in this section may be remitted to the voters of the city at any general election after the first year.

CHAPTER V.

An Act to provide for the disposal of certain lands belonging to the State of Texas, known as the Indian Reservations.

Whereas, Under the provisions of acts of the Legislature of the State of Texas, approved February 6, 1854, and February 4, 1856, jurisdiction over certain portions of the public domain of the State of Texas was ceded to the United States Government, and said land was set apart and appropriated for the use of the several tribes of Indians residing within the limits of the State of Texas; and

Whereas, Said acts further provided, that whenever the land, or any district thereof, selected or purchased as therein provided, shall cease to be used for Indian purposes, the jurisdiction therein ceded shall cease, and such portion of said land as shall be taken from the public domain of the State shall revert, together with all and singular the improvements made thereon, to this State, to be disposed of in such manner as the Legislature may thereafter see proper; and

Whereas, Said land selected by the United States Government, under the provisions of above recited acts has long been abandoned by said government as a reservation for Indians, and is now, and for some time past has been occupied and improved solely by actual settlers, many of whom were under the belief that said land was public domain of the State, and open to settlement under the existing laws of this State regulating homesteads; therefore,

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That all that portion of land in the State of Texas heretofore set apart and appropriated for the use of the several tribes of Indians residing within the limits of the State, as recited in above preamble, be and the same is hereby declared abandoned by the United States Government and reverted back to this State

Sec. 2. That all persons who are now actual settlers on said "Reservations," shall have the right to claim a homestead of one hundred and sixty acres, if the head of a family, or eighty acres, if a single person of not less than twenty-one years of age, of the land so settled upon, subject to the provisions of this act, and the restrictions and conditions as now or hereafter may be provided by the laws of this State not conflicting herewith; provided, said actual settler, within six months after this act take effect, shall make application to the surveyor of the county, in which said land is situated, to have his claim surveyed, and shall pay the regular fees allowed by law for making such surveys. Said actual settler, or his assignee or assignees, at the expiration of three years from the date of his actual settlement on said land, shall be entitled to a patent therefor, upon filing in the General Land Office an affidavit to the effect, that such person, or his assigns, has occupied and improved said land for three years, in good faith, and has complied with all requirements of law, and paid all fees, which affidavit shall be corroborated by the affidavits of two disinterested and credible citizens of the county in which the land is situated, all of which affidavits shall be subscribed and sworn to before the district clerk, who shall certify to same, and the credibility of said citizens, under the seal of his office.

Sec. 3. That all lands in said "Reservations" remaining unsettled at the passage of this act, shall be and the same is hereby appropriated and set apart, one-half to the "public school fund" of this State, and the remaining one-half to settlement by actual settlers, subject to the provisions of this act, and of all laws not in conflict therewith.

Sec. 4. It shall be the duty of the surveyor of the counties in which said "Reservations" are situated, to have all of said land now occupied and claimed by actual settlers thereon, correctly surveyed, and the field notes thereof recorded in his office, according to law and instructions issued by the General Land Office, prescribing the duties of surveyors, for which service he shall be paid by the settler the regular fees allowed by law. He shall also prepare a map of all land contained within said "Reservations," on which map he shall first lay off and plat all land claimed as homesteads by actual settlers, under provisions of section 2 of this act; and the balance of land in said "Reservations" remaining unsettled, he shall lay off and plat on said map, in quarter sections, of one hundred and sixty acres each, which he shall number consecutively, commencing with No. 1, in similar manner to that now prescribed by law for the numbering of sections, located by virtue of railroad certificates, which have alternate sections reserved for the public school lands of this State, that is to say, the numbers of each quarter section of all the land thus appropriated and set apart, shall alternate uniformly throughout, so that no two even or two odd numbered quarter sections shall be side by side, but shall be diagonal to each other. Said even-numbered quarter sections shall be reserved by the State for public school lands, and the odd numbered quarter sections shall be open to settlement by actual settlers as hereinafter provided. Said map, together with the field notes of surveys made of all lands now occupied and claimed as homesteads by actual settlers thereon, shall be completed, filed and recorded in said surveyor's office, within twelve months after the passage of this act, and a duplicate copy of said map and the said field notes shall be forwarded to the General Land Office within the same prescribed time.

Sec. 5. That in all cases where actual settlers now occupying lands within said "Reservations" have allowed a vacancy of less than forty acres of said land to intervene between their respective claims, they shall change the boundary lines of their claims, so that each settler shall take an equal portion of such intervening vacant land, in order to have their claims adjoin each other; and it shall be the duty of the surveyor of the county in which such land is situated to enforce this provision.

Sec. 6. That every head of a family, without a homestead, who may hereafter desire to settle on any land within said "Reservation," shall be entitled to select one hundred and sixty acres of said land wholly within one of the unsettled quarter sections having odd numbers, and every single person of not less than twenty-one years of age, shall be entitled to select eighty acres of any one quarter section unsettled, which shall be divided by the surveyor in two equal parts, and the choice of either part given to said claimant. Before entering on the land so selected, every claimant shall first make application to said surveyor to have such land surveyed, and thereupon it shall be the duty of said surveyor to survey the land thus selected, together with the alternate quarter section adjoining, reserved for the "Public School Fund" of this State, and make out field notes thereof which he shall certify as being correct, record them in his office, and forward same together with all other necessary papers connected with such application, to the General Land Office, for which service he shall be paid by the person making such application, the regular fees allowed by law, including the fees for surveying the alternate quarter section for the State; provided, that if the person making such application be single, and shall make the first selection of one-half of any such quarter section, he shall pay only the fees allowed by law for surveying one-half of said quarter section, together with the fees due by law for surveying the whole of the alternate quarter section for the State attached thereto; and any settler desiring to settle on the remaining one-half of said quarter section thus left vacant, before being allowed to enter upon same, shall be required to pay the fees for surveying said remaining one-half of said quarter section, and shall refund to the person who made a first selection out of same quarter section one-half of the amount which said person making such first selection paid for the survey of the alternate quarter section for the State connected therewith. In no case shall any applicant claiming a homestead by virtue of three years residence thereon and compliance with all the requirements of law be required to pay anything for the land, or any other fees than the fees herein allowed and due by law in the surveyor's office and in the General Land Office.

Sec. 7. That all laws and parts of laws so far as they contravene the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed, and that this act shall take effect and be in force sixty days from and after its passage; and nothing in this act shall be so construed as to prejudice the rights of third parties.

Whenever it so happens in any election that there is a tie between two or more candidates for the same office, all of whom cannot be elected, the city council shall declare such election void as between such candidates only, and immediately order a new election for the office, first giving not less than five days' notice thereof. In the event of a failure to meet on the part of the city council to examine the election returns and declare the result, the mayor shall discharge that duty.

Sec. 10. No person shall be eligible to the office of mayor unless he possesses the qualifications of an elector, and shall have resided twelve months next preceding the election within the limits of the city; and no person shall be eligible to the office of alderman unless in addition to the above qualifications he be a resident of the ward from which he may be elected at the time of the election; provided, that if any alderman shall remove from the ward in which he was elected, his office shall be deemed vacant, and a new election ordered to fill the same.

Sec. 11. In case of a vacancy in the office of mayor or alderman, or other elective office, by refusal to accept, or failure to qualify, or by death, resignation or otherwise, the city council shall order a new election to fill such vacancy, and all special elections shall be conducted as is herein provided for the annual election; provided, that in all special elections to fill vacancies, ten days notice shall be deemed sufficient.

Whenever the assessor and collector shall ascertain that any taxable property, real or personal, has not been assessed for the past year, he shall assess the same in his next assessment roll, (in a supplement thereto) at the same rate under which such property should have been assessed for such year stating the year for which such property should have been assessed for, and the taxes thereon shall be collected in the same manner as other assessments. In all cases where any party has omitted to render property for taxation for any former year or years, and such taxes have not been paid, such party shall give such property in for assessment for the years thus omitted and pay such taxes, and the assessor and collector shall enter all such property in a supplement to his next assessment roll, under the head of payments for former years.

Sec. 98. The assessor and collector, after the completion of the assessment roll, as required by ordinance, shall proceed to collect the taxes therein mentioned within the time, and give such notice as may be prescribed by the city council, and for that purpose shall call once upon every person taxed, or on the agent or attorney of such person at the usual place of his or her residence, office, place of business, or elsewhere, and demand the payment of the tax charged upon his or her person or property, if the person is to be found, and if not, then a written demand, specifying the amount of taxes due, left at the residence with some adult member of the family, shall be a sufficient demand; provided, that if any person thus owing taxes, has no residence, office or place of business, and no agent in the city or known to the assessor and collector, then the said demand shall not be necessary, and the ordinary published notice, required by ordinance, shall be sufficient.

Sec. 99. That if any person shall fail, neglect or refuse to pay the taxes imposed upon him and his property, within the time prescribed by the ordinances of said city, the assessor and collector shall, by virtue of his tax list and assessment roll, levy upon so much property liable to taxation belonging to such person, as may be sufficient to pay his, her or their taxes, and the assessor and collector shall give notice of the time and place of sale by advertisement in writing (if not unknown property), the property and amount of taxes, costs and fees due thereupon; such notice shall be published in some newspaper published in the said city, and at the expiration of such notice, and on the day therein specified, the assessor and collector shall proceed to sell such property at public auction, in front of the courthouse door of the city, or such building as may be used for such purpose; provided, that when real estate is offered for sale the smallest portion of grounds (to be taken from the east side of the premises) shall be sold for which any person will take the same and pay the taxes, costs and fees.

Sec. 100. The assessor and collector shall, when any property has been sold for the payment of taxes, make, execute and deliver a deed for said property to the person or persons purchasing the same, and such deed shall be prima facie evidence in all controversies and suits in relation to the right of the purchase [purchaser,] his, her or their heirs and assigns to the premises thereby conveyed, of the following facts:

First, That the land or lot or portions thereof conveyed was subject to taxation or assessment at the time the same was advertised for sale, and had been listed or assessed in the time or manner required by law.

Second, That the taxes or assessment was not paid at any time before the sale.

Third, That the land, lot, or portion thereof conveyed, had not been redeemed from the sale at the date of the deed, and shall be conclusive evidence of the following facts:

1st. That the land, lot, or portion thereof, sold, was advertised for sale in the manner and for the length of time required by law.

2d. That the property was sold for taxes or assessments as stated in the deed.

3d. That the grantee in the deed was the purchaser.

4th. That the sale was conducted in the manner prescribed by law; and in all controversies and suits involving the title to land claimed and held under and by virtue of such deed, the person or persons claiming title, adverse to the title conveyed by such deed, shall be required to prove, in order to defeat the said title, either that the land was not subject to taxation at the date of the sale, that the taxes or assessment has been paid, that the land had never been listed and assessed for taxation and assessment as required by this act, or some ordinance of the city, or that the same had been redeemed according to the provisions of this act, and that such redemption was made for the use and benefit of the persons having the right of redemption under the law; but no person shall be permitted to question the title acquired by the said deed, without first showing that he, she or they, or the person under whom he, she or they claim title, had title to the land at the time of the sale, or, that the title was obtained after the sale, and that all taxes due upon the lands have been paid by such person or the person under whom he claims title as aforesaid; provided, however, that the owner of such property shall have the right to redeem the same at any time within two years of the day and date of the sale thereof, upon paying to the purchaser double the amount of taxes for which the same was sold, together with the costs of such sale, and double the amount of all taxes paid by the purchaser since such sale. The assessor and collector shall have full power to levy upon any personal property to satisfy any tax imposed by this act; all taxes shall be a lien upon the property upon which they are assessed, and in case any property levied upon is about to be removed out of the city, the assessor and collector shall proceed to take into his possession so much thereof as will pay the taxes assessed and costs of collection.

Sec. 101. If from any cause the sale of property levied upon or seized for taxes shall not take place at the time first appointed, the assessor and collector shall appoint some other time, give like notice, and proceed to sell such property in the manner prescribed in the first instance; and in case said property levied upon or seized for taxes cannot be sold on the day advertised, such sale may be postponed from day to day until completed, of which postponement the assessor and collector shall give verbal notice at the expiration of sale each day.

Sec. 102. If at any sale of real or personal property or estate for taxes no bid shall be made for any parcel of land or any goods and chattles, the same shall be struck off to the city, and thereupon the city shall receive, in the corporate name, a deed for said property, and shall be vested with the same right as other purchasers at such sale, and shall have power to sell and convey the same.

Sec. 103. If the real estate of any infant, femme covert or lunatic be sold under this act, the same may be redeemed at any time within one year after such disability be removed.

Sec. 104. That the foregoing provisions of this chapter relating to notices, assessments and collection of taxes on personal property, and all other provisions thereof not inconsistent with this section, shall also apply to real estate, but that no sale of real estate shall take place unless by decree of the district court of the county in which said city is situated, at some regular term thereof; and the city council may by ordinance enact the mode and manner in which such suits for collection of taxes due and unpaid on land shall be instituted, and may have such other and further forms regulating the proceedings necessary for the sale of the land as it thinks best, and is not inconsistent with the laws and Constitution of this State; provided, that no sale shall be made until the owner has thirty days notice thereof; which notice may be given actually by an officer of the city, or by advertisement for sixty days, which advertisement may merely so describe the property as to designate it, and it shall not be necessary to set out the owner's name unless the same is known; and further provided, that such owner, his agent or attorney may redeem said property within two years from the day of sale, by paying the purchaser or purchasers the full amount of his bid and costs of suit, with interest thereon, at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum from day of sale; and further, provided, the purchaser or purchasers may apply to the district court at any time after said expiration of two years for confirmation of sale, and which said decree of confirmation shall vest full and absolute title in the purchaser or purchasers of said property, their heirs or assigns; and said district court shall take and exercise all jurisdiction required to carry this into effect, and such ordinances as may be passed by the city council relative to the subject matter.

Chapter VII—Fire Department.

Sec. 105. Sec. 106. Sec. 108. To require the inhabitants to keep and provide as many fire-buckets and ladders, or other means to reach the roof, as they shall prescribe, and to regulate the use thereof in times of fire.

Sec. 109. To regulate or prevent the carrying on of manufactories and works dangerous in promoting or causing fires; to prohibit or regulate the building and erection of cotton presses and sheds.

Sec. 112. To regulate and prescribe the manner, and to order the building of parapet and partiwalls.

Sec. 113. To compel the owners or occupants of houses or other buildings to have scuttles in the roofs, and stairs or ladders leading to the same.

Sec. 114. To authorize the mayor, officers of fire companies, or any officer of said city to keep away from the vicinity of any fire, all idle, disorderly and suspicious persons, and arrest and imprison the same, and compel all officers of the city, and all other persons, to aid in the extinguishment of fires and in the preservation of property exposed to danger thereat, and in preventing goods from being stolen.

Sec. 115. And generally to establish such regulations for the prevention and extinguishment of fires as the city council may deem expedient.

Sec. 116. The city council may procure fire engines and other apparatus for the extinguishment of fires, and have control thereof, and provide engine houses for keeping and preserving the same; and shall have power to organize fire, hook and ladder, hose and axe companies, [and] fire brigade; and the companies so organized, with such assistant engineers as may be provided for, and the chief engineer, shall constitute the fire department of the city.

Each company shall have the right to elect its own members and officers. The engineers shall be chosen in such manner as said department may determine, subject to the approval of the city council, who shall define the duties of said officers, and pass such ordinances as they may deem proper for the interest and welfare of said department, and to contribute to the efficiency thereof; all officers so elected and approved, shall be commissioned by the mayor, and the said companies, officers and members, shall observe and be governed by the ordinances of said city relating to the fire department; said companies shall have power to adopt their own constitution and by-laws not inconsistent with the provisions of this act and the ordinances of said city, and said department shall take the care and management of the engines, and other implements and apparatus provided and used for the extinguishment of fires, and their powers and duties shall be prescribed and defined by the city council.

Sec. 117. When any building in the city is on fire, it shall be lawful for the chief or acting chief engineer, with the concurrence of the mayor, to direct such building, or any other buildings which they may deem hazardous and likely to take fire and communicate to other buildings, to be torn down or blown up or destroyed, and no action shall be maintained against any person or against the city therefor, but any person interested in any such building so destroyed or injured may within six months, and not thereafter, apply in writing to the city council to assess and pay the damage he has sustained, and if the city council and the claimant cannot agree on the terms of adjustment, then the application of such claimant shall be referred to three commissioners, one to be appointed by the claimant, one by the city council, and the third by both. They shall be sworn faithfully to execute their duty according to the best of their ability, shall have power to subpoena and swear witnesses, and shall give all parties a fair and impartial hearing, and give notice of time and place of meeting; said commissioners shall be qualified voters and owners of real estate in the city, shall take into account the probabilities whether the said building would have been destroyed by fire if it had not been so pulled down or destroyed, and the loss of insurance upon said property, if any, caused by pulling down, blowing up or destroying said building, and may report that no damage should equitably be allowed to such claimant. Whenever a report shall be made, and finally confirmed for the appraising said damages, a compliance with the terms thereof by the city council shall be deemed a full satisfaction of said damages.

Sec. 120. The city council shall have power to take such measures as they may deem effectual to prevent the entrance of any pestilence, contagious or infectious diseases into the city; to stop, detain and examine, for that purpose, any person coming from any place infected or believed to be infected with that disease; to establish, maintain and regulate pest houses or hospital at some place within the city, or not exceeding five miles beyond its bounds; to cause any person who shall be suspected of being infected with any such disease to be sent to such pest house or hospital; to remove from the city or destroy any furniture, wearing apparel, or property of any kind which shall be suspected of being tainted or infected with pestilence, or which shall be likely to pass into such a state as to generate or propagate diseases; to abate all nuisances of every description which are or may become injurious to the public health, in any manner that they may deem expedient; and from time to time, do all acts, make all regulations and pass all ordinances which they shall deem expedient for the preservation of health and the suppression of disease in the city.

Sec. 121. The owner, driver, conductor or person in charge of any stage, railroad car or public conveyance, which shall enter the city, having on board any person sick of a malignant fever, or pestilential, contagious or infectious disease, unless such person became sick on the way and could not be left, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable with fine and imprisonment; or either such owner, driver, conductor or person in charge, shall, within three hours after the arrival of such sick person, report in writing the facts, with the name of such person and the house where he was put down in the city, to the health physician; and every neglect to comply with these provisions, shall be a misdemeanor, punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either.

Sec. 122. Any person who shall bring, or cause to be brought into the city, any person or property of any kind, tainted or infected with malignant fever, or pestilential or infectious disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either.

Sec. 123. Every keeper of any inn, hotel, tavern, boarding or lodging house in the city, in which any inmate thereof shall be sick with small-pox, varioloid, yellow fever, or other infectious or pestilential disease, shall, upon such fact coming to his knowledge, forthwith report the same to the health officer. Every physician in the city shall report under his hand, to the officer above named, the name, residence and disease of every patient whom he shall have sick of any infectious or pestilential disease, within six hours after he shall have visited such patient. A violation of either of the provisions of this section, or any part of either of them, shall be a misdemeanor, punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either.

Sec. 124. The city council shall have power to require the filling up, draining and regulating of any lot or lots, grounds or yards, or any other places in the city, which shall be unwholesome, or have stagnant water therein, or from any other cause, be in such condition as to be liable to produce disease; also, to cause all premises to be inspected, and to impose fines on the owners of houses under which such stagnant water may be found, and to pass such ordinances as they shall deem necessary for the purpose aforesaid, and for the making, filling up, altering or repairing of all sinks and privies, and directing the mode and material for constructing them in future, and for cleansing and disinfecting the same; and for cleansing of any house, building, establishment, lot, yard or ground, from filth, carrion or impure or unwholesome matter of any kind, and to punish any owner or occupant violating the provisions of any ordinance so passed, as aforesaid; and the city council shall, also, in addition to the foregoing remedy, have the power to cause any of the improvements above mentioned to be done at the expense of the city, on account of the owners, and cause expenses to be assessed on the real estate, or lot or lots, benefited thereby; and on filing with the district clerk of the county in which the city is situated a statement, by the mayor, of such expenses, shall have a first and privileged lien on such property, to secure such expenditure, and twelve per cent. interest thereon. For any such expenditures and interest, as aforesaid, suit may be instituted and recovery had in the name of the corporation, in any court having jurisdiction, and the statement so made, as aforesaid, or a certified copy thereof, shall be full proof and satisfactory evidence of the amount expended in any such improvement.

Sec. 125. The health physician may be authorized by the city council, when the public interest requires, to exercise for the time being such of the powers and perform such of the duties of the chief of police as the city council may in their discretion direct, and authorized to enter all houses and other places, private or public, at all times, in the discharge of his duties, under this act, having first asked permission of the owners or occupants; the city council shall have power to punish, by fine and imprisonment, or either, any neglect or refusal to observe the orders and regulations of the health physician.

Chapter IX.—Streets and Alleys.

Sec. 126. The city council shall be invested with full power and authority to grade, gravel, repair, pave or otherwise improve any avenue, street or alley, or any portion thereof, within the limits of said city, whenever, by a vote of two-thirds of the aldermen present, they may deem such improvement for the public interest; provided, the city council pay one-third and the owners of the property two-thirds thereof, except at the intersections of streets, from lot to lot across the streets, either way, shall be paid for by the city alone; and said cost shall be assessed on the property fronting on said street so improved, to be collected in equal annual payments, not less than five in number, and all moneys collected from these assessments shall be appropriated exclusively to the payment of the bonds issued for the payment of the cost of said improvement.

Sec. 127. That whenever the city council shall determine to make any such improvement they shall cause an estimate to be made of the probable cost thereof by the city engineer, or by some other officer of the city, or by a committee of three aldermen; and such other officer or committee shall also report a full list of all lots or fractional lots, giving number and size of the same, and the number of the block in which situated, and the names of the owners thereof, if known, and such other information as may be required by the city council, and if there be any lot or fractional lot, the owner of which is not known, the same shall be entered on said list as unknown; it shall be the duty of the officer or committee aforesaid to enter on said list, opposite each lot or fractional lot lying and being on each side of the street, avenue or alley so to be improved as aforesaid, one-third of the estimated expense for such work or improvement on such avenue, street or alley, fronting, adjoining or opposite such lot or fractional lot; and on the acceptance and approval of said report and list by the city council, said amount shall be imposed, levied and assessed as taxes, and shall be a lien upon the property until the payment of the same.

Sec. 128. That after such action on the part of the city council as above provided for, such officer or committee shall give that notice as may be required by ordinance, of said tax being due, and within what time payable, and shall commence forthwith to collect the same. That after the expiration of the period for payment of said tax, said officer or committee shall levy on so much of any property on said list on which said tax has not been paid, as will be sufficient to pay the same, and the same notice of sale as is required in sales for other tax shall be given; and if said tax be not paid before the day of sale, said officer or committee shall sell said property in the name and under the circumstances, and to the extent and subject to the same conditions which are or may be provided by ordinance for the sale of real estate in the city, charged with the payment of taxes imposed by the said corporation; and said officer or committee shall execute a deed to the purchaser at any such sale, and all the provisions of this act in reference to a. deed drawn by the assessor and collector shall apply to the deed provided for in this section.

Sec. 129. That in addition to the power and authority granted to the city council to collect said assessment of taxes, as aforesaid, they shall have the further power and additional remedy of instituting suit in the corporate name in any court having jurisdiction, for the recovery against any owner of property for the amount due for any such work, so made as aforesaid; and the city council shall provide by resolution or ordinance under the provisions of this act for carrying out and executing the powers in this chapter conferred, and may adopt such resolutions and enact such ordinances, and make such regulations as they may deem necessary.

Sec. 130. When it is necessary, such necessity to be determined by the city council, to take private property for opening, widening or altering any public street, avenue or alley, the corporation shall make a just compensation therefor to the person whose property is so taken; if the amount of such compensation cannot be agreed upon, the city council, upon its own motion, or upon the application of the owner whose land has been or is to be taken, shall appoint three disinterested freeholders of the city, who shall appoint a time and place to hear the matter in controversy between the corporation and said owner, to whom reasonable notice shall be given of said time and place; and said freeholders shall, after being sworn faithfully to discharge their duties as appraisers, and after hearing the parties, determine the amount of compensation as aforesaid, and make return of their award to the city council at its next meeting. The rule for ascertaining the amount of such compensation, shall be the intrinsic value of the land taken, without reference to the profit or advantage that he may derive from the opening, widening or altering said street, avenue or alley. The owner of the land so taken, is also entitled to such damages, if any, as are occasioned to the remainder of the tract of which the land taken was a part, by reason of its appropriation for the purpose for which it was taken. In estimating these damages, the benefit and advantage that the remainder of the tract will derive from the opening, widening or altering said street, avenue or alley, are legitimate subjects of consideration, and are to be estimated in determining the true amount of damages that have accrued or will accrue, to the owner by the appropriation of his property for the purposes for which it is or has been taken. But this does not affect the claim for the intrinsic value of the land taken. The city council by tendering to the owner of the land so appraised, the amount of the award reported by said appraiser, may at once enter upon and appropriate said land to the purpose of opening, widening or altering said street, and so forth.

Chapter X—Miscellaneous Provisions.

Sec. 131. Whenever in the opinion of the city council, any building, fence, shed, awning or any erection of any kind or any part thereof, is liable to fall down and endanger persons or property, they may order any owner or agent of the same, or any owner or occupant of the premises on which such building, shed, awning or other erection stands, or to which it is attached, to take down and remove the same or any part thereof, within such time as they may direct, and to punish by fine and imprisonment, or either, any neglect, failure or refusal to comply therewith. The city council shall, in addition, have the power to remove the same at the expense of the city on account of the owner of the property or premises, and assess the expenses on the land on which it stood, or to which it was attached; and shall, by ordinance, provide for such assessment, the mode and manner of giving notice, and the means of recovering any such expenses.

Sec. 135. In all cases where, by any provision of this act or by ordinance passed in pursuance thereof, a person is required to obtain a license for any calling, occupation, business or avocation, and has, on complaint before the mayor or recorder, been adjudged guilty of violating any rule, regulation or ordinance of the city council in relation thereto, the mayor or recorder, in addition to fine and imprisonment, or either, may suspend or revoke the license so granted.

Sec. 145. The city council shall have power to remove any officer for incompetency, corruption, malconduct or malfeasance in office, after due notice, and an opportunity to be heard in his defense. Sec. 146. Whenever any person shall be removed from any office, or the term for which he was elected or appointed has expired, or he has resigned, or has ceased to act in his official capacity, he shall deliver over to his successor all books, papers and effects in any way appertaining to his office. Every person violating this provision shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be deemed an offender within the meaning of any law of the State punishing such offenses, and in addition thereto he shall, on conviction before the mayor or recorder, be fined in a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, and imprisoned for any time not exceeding six months, or either. Any officer who shall have been intrusted with the collection or custody of funds belonging to said city, who shall be in default to said city, besides being liable to criminal prosecution and a civil action for debt, shall thereafter be incapable of holding any office under said city, until the amount of his defalcation shall have been fully paid to said city, with twelve per cent. interest.

Sec. 148. The members of the city council, together with the city secretary, shall be exempt from jury service during their term of office. Each alderman shall be fined three dollars for each meeting which he fails to attend, unless on account of his own sickness or that of his family. Any member of the city council remaining absent for three regular consecutive meetings of the board, unless prevented by sickness, without first having obtained leave of absence at a regular meeting, shall be deemed to have vacated his office, and the mayor shall proceed to fill the vacancy in accordance with the charter.

Sec. 149. The city council shall have power to prescribe the duties of all officers and persons appointed by them or Joint Resolution concerning the vacant lands in Fisher and Miller's Colony.

Whereas, The territory known as Fisher and Miller's Colony, was made a reservation for the benefit of German Immigration Company, and the lands in said colony were to be surveyed in alternate sections, one section for the immigrant and the other for the company; and whereas, the company failed to carry out the provisions of their contract; and whereas, said lands set apart for the company were reserved to the State, and commissioners appointed to issue certificates to those immigrants, who came to this State for the purpose of joining said colony, and said certificates were locatable on any of the sections set part for the immigrant; and whereas, certificates were afterwards issued to the company, for every one hundred immigrants, and said certificates were made locatable on the sections originally set apart for the company; and whereas, there were many sections not located, either by the immigrant or the company, and much vacant land never was sectionized; and whereas, the Twelfth Legislature by an act, declared, that any holder of a genuine land certificate could locate the same upon any of the public domain, and the Commissioner of the General Land Office construed the law, so as to allow the location of colony certificates upon any of the vacant land of Texas, and to allow the holder of a genuine land certificate to locate the same upon the lands originally set apart for the colony, and to allow pre-emptions upon the same; and whereas, many thousands of acres have been filed upon and patents have already been issued, and many thousand of acres have been pre-empted and filed upon, and field notes returned to the Land Office, and patents have not been issued thereon; therefore, to quiet the titles to said lands, and allow settlement and location:

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That said lands be open for location, as other vacant lands in this State, in accordance with laws concerning location, and that patents which have already been issued on the same as aforesaid, either to pre-emptors or to owners of certificates, be declared valid; and the Commissioner of the General Land Office is hereby authorized to issue patents to any of said vacant lands, either to pre-emptors or owners of certificates, which have been filed upon and field notes are now on file in General Land Office; provided, this act shall not so be construed as to effect any rights which may have arisen by virtue of pre-existing laws.

Sec. 2. This act to take effect from and after its passage.

Joint Resolution condemning the interference with and destruction of the State Government of Louisiana by the present Federal Administration.

Whereas, it is the right and duty of the States, on appropriate occasions, to give expression to their sentiments on all questions seriously affecting the integrity and the honor of the Union and the General Government; therefore,

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That we recognize in the late interference of the Federal Administration in the domestic affairs of Louisiana, and its destruction of the State Government, legally established by the people of that commonwealth, a flagrant violation of the Constitution of the United States and the rights of all the States by the present Federal Administration.

Sec. 2. That Texas entertains profound appreciation of the spirited indignation expressed by the advocates of freedom and constitutional government throughout the nation, irrespective of political parties, at the outrage lately perpetrated in Louisiana by the present Federal Administration upon the dignity of the Union, and the honor and rights of the States, and joins in the national protest against the prostitution of the United States Army to the illegal purpose of making war upon a State of this Union.

Sec. 3. That to our sister State, in this her hour of oppression and wrongful affliction, we extend the deepest sympathy, and assure them of our firm belief that the American people will administer a just rebuke to the present Administration for this assumption of power, and avert the danger which threatens local self-government in the States.

Sec. 4. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the President of the Senate of the United States, and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to our Senators and Representatives in Congress, and the Governors of the several States of the Union.

Joint Resolution instructing our Senators and requesting our Representatives in Congress to use their earnest endeavors to procure the passage of a law or laws, and an appropriation by the Congress of the United States to give better protection to our Mexican border; to reimburse the State of Texas for expenditures incurred in protecting the line of the Rio Grande river; to indemnify citizens and residents of Texas for losses sustained by armed bandits from the Republic of Mexico driving off their cattle and horses; and to give security for the future to life and property along the Rio Grande border.

Whereas, It appears that the lives and property of the citizens of Texas are exposed to great danger, and there has been great loss of the same, by reason of the forays of armed bands from the Republic of Mexico.

Whereas, It is the duty and obligation of the United States to protect said citizens, and to guard well our Rio Grande border from foreign invasions.

Whereas, The State of Texas has incurred great expense in keeping State troops on the line of said river, in attempting to afford some protection to the life and property of the citizen against Mexican raiders; which raiders it is the duty of the Mexican Government to restrain, and when they invade our soil, the duty of the United States to drive back.

Whereas, Great loss of life and property has resulted from the failure of the United States to protect said border; and,

Whereas, It is but just and right that our citizens should be indemnified for such losses, and properly protected in the future: therefore.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That our Senators are instructed and our Representatives in Congress are requested to use their most earnest endeavors to secure such laws and appropriations, by the Congress of the United States, as may be necessary to secure better protection on the line of the Rio Grande river, the reimbursing of the State of Texas for expenditures incurred in protecting said line, and use their utmost exertions to induce the United States Government to take such steps and action as will indemnify our citizens for losses sustained by armed bandits and raiders from the Republic of Mexico, and give ample security for the future along the national boundary of the United States, within the limits of the State of Texas.

Sec. 2. That His Excellency, the Governor, cause to be transmitted to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress a copy of this joint resolution.

Approved March 13th, 1875.

Thurmond to the office of notary public for the county of Victoria; and whereas, it now appears in the opinion of the Attorney General, that the said C. L. Thurmond was disqualified from holding the said office of notary public for the reason of his, the said C. L. Thurmond's being the sheriff of the said county of Victoria; therefore,

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That all the official acts of the said C. L. Thurmond, as notary public as aforesaid, done in pursuance of said appointment, be and the same are hereby legalized and made valid.

Sec. 5. The Governor shall issue his proclamation upon the passage of these resolutions, directing the several officers of this State, empowered by law to conduct, manage and supervise elections under the laws of Texas, and, as now provided by these resolutions, to hold said elections and make return of the result of the same.

Sec. 6. That the sum of one hundred thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, be and the same is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated, to pay the mileage and per diem of delegates to, and officers of said convention, and the contingent expenses of said body, which may be drawn or paid out in the manner to be provided for by said convention.

Sec. 15. If it shall be ascertained at any time that the tax which has been levied for the payment of said bonds is insufficient to pay the annual interest, and two per cent. annually of the principal of such bonds, besides the expenses of assessing and collecting such tax, it shall be the duty of the Comptroller to see that such additional tax is levied and collected as will be sufficient to make such payments, which levy shall be continued in force until the whole amount of the principal and interest of said bonds shall have been fully paid.

D. 1876, for their ratification or rejection. Those electors in favor of ratification shall have written or printed on their ballots, "For the Constitution." Those electors opposed to the ratification shall have written or printed on their ballots, "Against the Constitution." If a majority of all the votes cast at said election, and returned to the Secretary of State, shall be in favor of ratification, the Governor shall, within five days next succeeding the return day, issue his proclamation declaring the fact, and then the new Constitution shall, on the third Tuesday in April, A. D. 1876, become, and thereafter be, the organic and fundamental law of the State. CONSTITUTION
OF THE
THE STATE OF TEXAS

ADOPTED BY THE
CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

CONVENED AT AUSTIN, SEPTEMBER 6, 1875, AND RATIFIED BY THE PEOPLE

HOUSTON

CONSTITUTION.

PREAMBLE.

Humbly invoking the blessing of Almighty God, the people of the State of Texas do ordain and establish this Constitution.

ARTICLE I.

Bill of Rights.

That the general, great and essential principles of liberty and free government may be recognized and established, we declare:

Section 1. Texas is a free and independent State, subject only to the Constitution of the United States; and the maintenance of our free institutions and the perpetuity of the Union depend upon the preservation of the right of local self-government unimpaired to all the States.

Sec. 2. All political power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority, and instituted for their benefit. The faith of the people of Texas stands pledged to the preservation of a republican form of government, and, subject to this limitation only, they have at all times the inalienable right to alter, reform or abolish their government in such manner as they may think expedient.

Sec. 3. All free men when they form a social compact, have equal rights, and no man, or set of men, is entitled to exclusive separate public emoluments, or privileges, but in consideration of public services.

Sec. 4. No religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office, or public trust, in this State; nor shall any one be excluded from holding office on account of his religious sentiments, provided he acknowledge the existence of a Supreme Being.

Sec. 5. No person shall be disqualified to give evidence in any of the courts of this State on account of his religious opinions, or for the want of any religious belief, but all oaths or affirmations shall be administered in the mode most binding upon the conscience, and shall be taken subject to the pains and penalties of perjury.

Sec. 6. All men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences. No man shall be compelled to attend, erect or support any place of worship, or to maintain any ministry against his consent. No human authority ought, in any case whatever, to control or interfere with the rights of conscience in matters of religion, and no preference shall ever be given by law to any religious society or mode of worship. But it shall be the duty of the Legislature to pass such laws as may be necessary to protect equally every religious denomination in the peaceable enjoyment of its own mode of public worship.

Sec. 7. No money shall be appropriated or drawn from the treasury for the benefit of any sect, or religious society, theological or religious seminary; nor shall property belonging to the State be appropriated for any such purposes.

Sec. 8. Every person shall be at liberty to speak, write or publish his opinions on any subject, being responsible for the abuse of that privilege; and no law shall ever be passed curtailing the liberty of speech or of the press. In prosecutions for the publication of papers investigating the conduct of officers or men in public capacity, or when the matter published is proper for public information, the truth thereof may be given in evidence. And in all indictments for libels the jury shall have the right to determine the law and the facts, under the direction of the court, as in other cases.

Sec. 9. The people shall be secure in their persons, houses, papers and possessions from all unreasonable seizures or searches, and no warrant to search any place, or to seize any person or thing, shall issue without describing them as near as may be, nor without probable cause supported by oath or affirmation.

Sec. 10. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall have a speedy public trial by an impartial jury. He shall have the right to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him, and have a copy thereof. He shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself. He shall have the right of being heard by himself or counsel or both; shall be confronted with the witnesses against him, and shall have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor. Sec. 11. Each house may determine the rules of its own proceedings, punish members for disorderly conduct, and, with the consent of two-thirds, expel a member, but not a second time for the same offense.

Sec. 12. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of any three members present, be entered on the journals.

Sec. 13. When vacancies occur in either house, the governor, or the person exercising the power of the governor, shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies; and should the governor fail to issue a writ of election to fill any such vacancy within twenty days after it occurs, the returning officer of the district in which such vacancy may have happened shall be authorized to order an election for that purpose.

Sec. 15. Each house may punish, by imprisonment, during its sessions, any person not a member, for disrespectful or disorderly conduct in its presence, or for obstructing any of its proceedings; provided, such imprisonment shall not, at any one time, exceed forty-eight hours.

Sec. 16. The sessions of each house shall be open, except the Senate when in executive session.

Sec. 17. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that where the Legislature may be sitting.

Sec. 18. In addition to the per diem the members of each house shall be entitled to mileage in going to and returning from the seat of government, which mileage shall not exceed five dollars for every twenty-five miles, the distance to be computed by the nearest and most direct route of travel by land regardless of railways or water routes; and the comptroller of the State shall prepare and preserve a table of distances to each county seat now or hereafter to be established and by such table the mileage of each member shall be paid; but no member shall be entitled to mileage for any extra session that may be called within one day after the adjournment of a regular or called session.

Sec. 25. The State shall be divided into senatorial districts of contiguous territory according to the number of qualified electors, as nearly as may be, and each district shall be entitled to elect one senator, and no single county shall be entitled to more than one senator.

Sec. 26. The members of the House of Representatives shall be apportioned among the several counties, according to the number of population in each, as nearly as may be, on a ratio obtained by dividing the population of the State, as ascertained by the most recent United States census, by the number of members of which the house is composed; provided, that whenever a single county has sufficient population to be entitled to a representative, such county shall be formed into a separate representative district, and when two or more counties are required to make up the ratio of representation such counties shall be contiguous to each other: and when any one county has more than sufficient population to be entitled to one or more representatives, such representative or representatives shall be apportioned to such county, and for any surplus of population it may be joined in a representative district with any other contiguous county or counties.

Sec. 27. Elections for senators and representatives shall be general throughout the State, and shall be regulated by law.

Sec. 28. The Legislature shall, at its first session after the publication of each United States decennial census, apportion the State into senatorial and representative districts, agreeably to the provisions of sections 25 and 26 of this Article; and until the next decennial census, when the first apportionment shall be made by the Legislature, the State shall be, and it is hereby divided into senatorial and representative districts as provided by an ordinance of the Convention on that subject.

ARTICLE IV.

Executive Department.

Section 1. The executive department of the State shall consist of a governor, who shall be the chief executive officer of the State, a lieutenant-governor, secretary of State, comptroller of public accounts, treasurer, commissioner of the general land office and attorney general.

Sec. 2. All the above officers of the executive department (except secretary of state) shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State at the time and places of election for members of the Legislature.

Sec. 3. The returns of every election for said executive officers, until otherwise provided by law, shall be made out, sealed up and transmitted by the returning officers prescribed by law, to the seat of government, directed to the secretary of state, who shall deliver the same to the speaker of the house of representatives, as soon as the speaker shall be chosen; and the said speaker shall, during the first week of the session of the Legislature, open and publish them in the presence of both houses of the Legislature. The person, voted for at said election, having the highest number of votes for each of said offices respectively, and being constitutionally eligible, shall be declared by the speaker, under sanction of the Legislature, to be elected to said office. But if two or more persons shall have the highest and an equal number of votes for either of said offices one of them shall be immediately chosen to such office by joint vote of both houses of the legislature. Contested elections for either of said offices shall be determined by both houses of the Legislature in joint session.

Sec. 4. The governor shall be installed on the first Tuesday after the organization of the Legislature, or as soon thereafter as practicable, and shall hold his office for the term of two years, or until his successor shall be duly installed. He shall be at least thirty years of age, a citizen of the United States, and shall have resided in this State at least five years immediately preceding his election.

Sec. 5. He shall at stated times, receive as compensation for his services an annual salary of four thousand dollars and no more, and shall have the use and occupation of the governor's mansion, fixtures and furniture.

Sec. 6. During the time he holds the office of governor he shall not hold any other office, civil, military, or corporate; nor shall he practice any profession, and receive compensation, reward, fee, or the promise thereof for the same; nor receive any salary, reward, or compensation, or the promise thereof, from any person or corporation, for any service rendered or performed during the time he is governor, or to be thereafter rendered or performed.

Sec. 7. He shall be commander-in-chief of the military forces of the State, except when they are called into actual service of the United States. He shall have power to call forth the militia to execute the laws of the State, to suppress insurrections, repel invasions, and protect the frontier from hostile incursions by Indians or other predatory bands.

Sec. 8. The governor may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the Legislature at the seat of government, or at a different place in case that should be in possession of the public enemy or in case of the prevalence of disease thereat. His proclamation therefor shall state specifically the purpose for which the Legislature is convened.

Sec. 9. The governor shall, at the commencement of each session of the Legislature, and at the close of his term of office, give to the Legislature information, by message, of the condition of the State; and he shall recommend to the Legislature such measures as he may deem expedient. He shall account to the Legislature for all public moneys received and paid out by him from any fund subject to his order, with vouchers; and shall accompany his message with a statement of the same. And at the commencement of each regular session, he shall present estimates of the amount of money required to be raised by taxation for all purposes.

Sec. 10. He shall cause the laws to be faithfully executed; and shall conduct, in person, or in such manner as shall be prescribed by law, all intercourse and business of the State with other States and with the United States.

Sec. 11. In all criminal cases, except treason and impeachment, he shall have power, after conviction, to grant reprieves, commutations of punishment and pardons; and under such rules as the Legislature may prescribe, he shall have power to remit fines and forfeitures. With the advice and consent of the Senate, he may grant pardons in cases of treason, and to this end he may respite a sentence therefor, until the close of the succeeding session of the Legislature; provided, that in all cases of remissions of fines and forfeitures, or grants of reprieve, commutation of punishment, or pardon, he shall file in the office of the secretary of State his reasons therefor.

Sec. 12. All vacancies in State or district offices, except members of the Legislature, shall be filled, unless otherwise provided by law, by appointment of the governor, which appointment, if made during its session, shall be with the advice and consent of two-thirds of the Senate present. If made during the recess of the Senate, the said appointee, or some other person to fill such vacancy, shall be nominated to the Senate during the first ten days of its session. If rejected, said office shall immediately become vacant, and the governor shall, without delay, make further nominations, until a confirmation takes place. But should there be no confirmation during the session of the Senate, the governor shall not thereafter appoint any person to fill such vacancy who has been rejected by the Senate; but may appoint some other person to fill the vacancy until the next session of the Senate or until the regular election to said office, should it sooner occur. Appointments to vacancies in offices elective by the people shall only continue until the first general election thereafter.

Sec. 13. During the session of the Legislature the governor shall reside where its sessions are held, and at all other times at the seat of government, except when by act of the Legislature, he may be required or authorized to reside elsewhere.

Sec. 14. Every bill which shall have passed both houses of the Legislature shall be presented to the governor for his approval. If he approve he shall sign it; but if he disapprove it, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated, which house shall enter the objections at large upon its journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members present agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, with the objections, to the other house, by which likewise it shall be reconsidered; and, if approved by two-thirds of the members of that house, it shall become a law; but in such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor with his objections within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Legislature, by its adjournment, prevent its return; in which case it shall be a law, unless he shall file the same, with his objections, in the office of the secretary of state, and give notice thereof by public proclamation within twenty days after such adjournment. If any bill presented to the governor contains several items of appropriation, he may object to one or more of such items, and approve the other portion of the bill. In such case he shall append to the bill, at the time of signing it, a statement of the items to which he objects, and no item so objected to shall take effect. If the Legislature be in session he shall transmit to the house in which the bill originated a copy of such statement, and the items objected to shall be separately considered. If, on reconsideration, one or more of such items be approved by two-thirds of the members present of each house, the same shall be part of the law, notwithstanding the objections of the governor. If any such bill, containing several items of appropriation, not having been presented to the governor ten days (Sundays excepted) prior to adjournment, be in the hands of the governor at the time of adjournment, he shall have twenty days from such adjournment within which to file objections to any items thereof and make proclamation of the same, and such item or items shall not take effect.

Sec. 15. Every order, resolution or vote to which the concurrence of both houses of the Legislature may be necessary, except on questions of adjournment, shall be presented to the governor, and, before it shall take effect, shall be approved by him; or, being disapproved, shall be repassed by both houses; and all the rules, provisions and limitations shall apply thereto as prescribed in the last preceding section in the case of a bill.

Sec. 16. There shall also be a lieutenant-governor, who shall be chosen at every election for governor by the same electors, in the same manner, continue in office the same time, and possess the same qualifications. The electors shall distinguish for whom they vote as governor and for whom as lieutenant-governor. The lieutenant-governor shall by virtue of his office be president of the Senate, and shall have, when in committee of the whole, a right to debate and vote on all questions; and when the Senate is equally divided to give the casting vote. In case of the death, resignation, removal from office, inability or refusal of the Governor to serve, or of his impeachment or absence from the State, the lieutenant-governor shall exercise the powers and authority appertaining to the office of governor until another be chosen at the periodical election, and be duly qualified; or until the governor, impeached, absent or disabled, shall be acquitted, return, or his disability be removed.

Sec. 17. If, during the vacancy in the office of governor, the lieutenant-governor should die, resign, refuse to serve, or be removed from office, or be unable to serve, or if he shall be impeached or absent from the State, the president of the Senate, for the time being, shall, in like manner, administer the government until he shall be superseded by a governor or lieutenant-governor. The lieutenant-governor shall, while he acts as president of the Senate, receive for his services the same compensation and mileage which shall be allowed to the members of the Senate, and no more; and during the time he administers the government, as governor, he shall receive in like manner the same compensation which the governor would have received had he been employed in the duties of his office, and no more. The president for the time being, of the Senate, shall, during the time he administers the government, receive in like manner the same compensation, which the governor would have received had he been employed in the duties of his office.

Sec. 18. The lieutenant-governor or president of the Senate succeeding to the office of governor, shall, during the entire term to which he may succeed, be under all the restrictions and inhibitions imposed in this Constitution on the governor.

Sec. 19. There shall be a Seal of the State which shall be kept by the secretary of state, and used by him officially under the direction of the governor. The seal of the State shall be a star of five points, encircled by olive and live oak branches, and the words, "The State of Texas."

Sec. 20. All commissions shall be in the name and by the authority of the State of Texas, sealed with the State seal, signed by the governor and attested by the secretary of state.

Sec. 21. There shall be a secretary of state, who shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and who shall continue in office during the term of service of the governor. He shall authenticate the publication of the laws, and keep a fair register of all official acts and proceedings of the governor, and shall, when required, lay the same and all papers, minutes and vouchers relative thereto, before the Legislature, or either house thereof, and shall perform such other duties as may be required of him by law. He shall receive for his services an annual salary of two thousand dollars, and no more.

Sec. 22. The attorney general shall hold his office for two years and until his successor is duly qualified. He shall represent the State in all suits and pleas in the Supreme Court of the State in which the State may be a party, and shall especially inquire into the charter rights of all private corporations, and from time to time in the name of the State, take such action in the courts as may be proper and necessary to prevent any private corporation from exercising any power or demanding or collecting any species of taxes, tolls, freight or wharfage, not authorized by law. He shall, whenever sufficient cause exists, seek a judicial forfeiture of such charters, unless otherwise expressly directed by law, and give legal advice in writing to the governor and other executive officers, when requested by them, and perform such other duties as may be required by law. He shall reside at the seat of government during his continuance in office. He shall receive for his services an annual salary of two thousand dollars, and no more, besides such fees as may be prescribed by law; provided, that the fees which he may receive shall not amount to more than two thousand dollars annually.

Sec. 23. The comptroller of public accounts, the treasurer and the commissioner of the general land office shall each hold office for the term of two years, and until his successor is qualified; receive an annual salary of two thousand and five hundred dollars, and no more; reside at the capital of the State during his continuance in office; and perform such duties as are or may be required of him by law. They and the secretary of State shall not receive to their own use any fees, costs or perquisites of office. All fees that may be payable by law for any service performed by any officer specified in this section, or in his office, shall be paid, when received, into the State treasury.

Sec. 24. An account shall be kept by the officers of the executive department, and by all officers and managers of State institutions, of all moneys and choses in action received and disbursed or otherwise disposed of by them, severally, from all sources, and for every service performed; and a semi-annual report thereof shall be made to the governor under oath. The governor may, at any time, require information in writing from any and all of said officers or managers, upon any subject relating to the duties, condition, management and expenses of their respective offices and institutions, which information shall be required by the governor under oath, and the governor may also inspect their books, accounts, vouchers and public funds; and any officer or manager who, at any time, shall willfully make a false report or give false information, shall be guilty of perjury, and so adjudged and punished accordingly, and removed from office.

Sec. 25. The Legislature shall pass efficient laws facilitating the investigation of breaches of trust and duty by all custodians of public funds, and providing for their suspension from office on reasonable cause shown, and for the appointment of temporary incumbents of their offices during such suspension.

Sec. 26. The governor, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of the Senate, shall appoint a convenient number of notaries public for each county, who shall perform such duties as now are or may be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE V.

Judicial Department.

Section 1. The judicial power of this State shall be vested in one Supreme Court, in a Court of Appeals, in District Courts, in County Courts, in Commissioners Courts, in Courts of Justices of the Peace, and in such other courts as may be established by law. The Legislature may establish Criminal District Courts with such jurisdiction as it may prescribe, but no such court shall be established unless the district includes a city containing at least thirty thousand inhabitants as ascertained by the census of the United States or other official census; provided, such town or city shall support said Criminal District Courts when established. The Criminal District Court of Galveston and Harris counties shall continue with the district, jurisdiction and organization now existing by law, until otherwise provided by law.

Sec. 2. The Supreme Court shall consist of a chief justice and two associate justices, any two of whom shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of two judges shall be necessary to the decision of a case. No person shall be eligible to the office of chief justice or associate justice of the Supreme Court unless he be at the time of his election a citizen of the United States and of this State, and unless he shall have attained the age of thirty years, and shall have been a practicing lawyer or a judge of a court in this State, or such lawyer and judge together, at least seven years. Said chief justice and associate justices shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State at a general election, shall hold their offices for six years, and shall each receive an annual salary of not more than three thousand five hundred and fifty dollars. In case of a vacancy in the office of chief justice or associate justice of the Supreme Court, the governor shall fill the vacancy until the next general election for State officers, and at such general election the vacancy for the unexpired term shall be filled by election by the qualified voters of the State.

Sec. 3. The Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction only, which shall be co-extensive with the limits of the State; but shall only extend to civil cases of which the Dis-strict Courts have original or appellate jurisdiction. Appeals may be allowed from the interlocutory judgments of the District Courts, in such cases and under such regulations as may be provided by law. The Supreme Court and the judges thereof shall have power to issue, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law, the writ of mandamus and all other writs necessary to enforce the jurisdiction of said court. The Supreme Court shall have power upon affidavit or otherwise, as by the court may be thought proper, to ascertain such matters of fact as may be necessary to the proper exercise of its jurisdiction. The Supreme Court shall sit for the transaction of business from the first Monday in October until the last Saturday of June of every year, at the seat of government, and at not more than two other places in the State.

Sec. 4. The Supreme Court shall appoint a clerk for each place at which it may sit, and each of said clerks shall give bond in such manner as is now or may hereafter be required by law; shall hold his office for four years, and shall be subject to removal by said court for good cause entered of record on the minutes of said court.

Sec. 5. The Court of Appeals shall consist of three judges, any two of whom may constitute a quorum, and a concurrence of two judges shall be necessary to a decision of said court. They shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State at a general election. They shall be citizens of the United States and of this State; shall have arrived at the age of thirty years at the time of election; each shall have been a practicing lawyer, or a judge of a court in this State, or such lawyer and judge together, for at least seven years. Said judges shall hold their offices for a term of six years, and each of them shall receive an annual salary of three thousand five hundred and fifty dollars, which shall not be increased or diminished during their term of office.

Sec. 6. The Court of Appeals shall have appellate jurisdiction co-extensive with the limits of the State in all criminal cases, of whatever grade, and in all civil cases, unless hereafter otherwise provided by law, of which the County Courts have original or appellate jurisdiction. In civil cases its opinions shall not be published unless the publication of such opinions be required by law. The Court of Appeals and the judges thereof shall have power to issue the writ of habeas corpus; and under such regulations as may be prescribed by law, issue such writs as may be necessary to enforce its own jurisdiction. The Court of Appeals shall have power upon affidavits, or otherwise, as by the court may be thought proper, to ascertain such matters of fact as may be necessary to the exercise of its jurisdiction. The Court of Appeals shall sit for the transaction of business from the first Monday of October until the last Saturday of June of every year, at the capital, and at not more than two other places in the State, at which the Supreme Court shall hold its sessions. The court shall appoint a clerk for each place at which it may sit, and each of said clerks shall give bond in such manner as is now or may hereafter be required by law; shall hold his office for four years, and shall be subject to removal by the said court for good cause, entered of record on the minutes of said court.

Sec. 7. The State shall be divided into twenty-six judicial districts, which may be increased or diminished by the Legislature. For each district there shall be elected, by the qualified voters thereof, at a general election for members of the Legislature, a judge, who shall be at least twenty-five years of age, shall be a citizen of the United States, shall have been a practicing attorney or a judge of a court in this State for the period of four years, and shall have resided in the district in which he is elected for two years next before his election; shall reside in his district during his term of office; shall hold his office for the term of four years; shall receive an annual salary of twenty-five hundred dollars, which shall not be increased or diminished during his term of service; and shall hold the regular terms of court at one place in each county in the district twice in each year, in such manner as may be prescribed by law. The Legislature shall have power by general act to authorize the holding of special terms, when necessary, and to provide for holding more than two terms of the court in any county, for the dispatch of business; and shall provide for the holding of District Courts when the judge thereof is absent, or is from any cause disabled or disqualified from presiding.

Sec. 8. The District Court shall have original jurisdiction in criminal cases of the grade of felony; of all suits in behalf of the State to recover penalties, forfeitures and escheats; of all cases of divorce; in cases of misdemeanors involving official misconduct; of all suits to recover damages for slander or defamation of character; of all suits for the trial of title to land; and for the enforcement of liens thereon; of all suits for trial of right to property levied on by virtue of any writ of execution, sequestration or attachment, when the property levied on shall be equal to or exceed in value five hundred dollars; and of all suits, complaints, or pleas whatever, without regard to any distinction between law and equity, when the matter in controversy shall be valued at, or amount to five hundred dollars exclusive of interest; and the said courts and the judges thereof shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus in felony cases, mandamus, injunction, certiorari, and all writs necessary to enforce their jurisdiction. The District Courts shall have appellate jurisdiction and general control in probate matters over the County Court established in each county for appointing guardians, granting letters testamentary and of administration, for settling the accounts of executors, administrators and guardians, and for the transaction of business appertaining to estates; and original jurisdiction and general control over executors, administrators, guardians and minors, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Legislature. All cases now pending in the Supreme Court, of the which the Court of Appeals has appellate jurisdiction under the provisions of this Article, shall, as soon as practicable after the establishment of said Court of Appeals, be certified, and the records transmitted to the Court of Appeals, and shall be decided by such Court of Appeals as if the same had been originally appealed to such court.

Sec. 9. There shall be a clerk for the District Court of each county, who shall be elected by the qualified voters for the State and county officers, and who shall hold his office for two years, subject to removal by information, or by indictment of a grand jury, and conviction by a petit jury. In case of vacancy the judge of the District Court shall have the power to appoint a clerk, who shall hold until the office can be filled by election.

Sec. 10. In the trial of all causes in the District Courts, the plaintiff or defendant shall, upon application made in open court, have the right of trial by jury; but no jury shall be empaneled in any civil case unless demanded by a party to the case, and a jury fee be paid by the party demanding a jury, for such sum, and with such exceptions as may be prescribed by the Legislature.

Sec. 11. No judge shall sit in any case wherein he may be interested, or where either of the parties may be connected with him by affinity or consanguinity, within such degree as may be prescribed by law, or where he shall have been counsel in the case. When the Supreme Court, or the Appellate Court, or any two of the members of either, shall be thus disqualified to hear and determine any case or cases in said court, the same shall be certified to the governor of the State, who shall immediately commission the requisite number of persons learned in the law, for the trial and determination of said cause or causes. When a judge of the District Court is disqualified by any of the causes above stated, the parties may, by consent, appoint a proper person to try said case; or, upon their failing to do so, a competent person may be appointed to try the same in the county where it is pending, in such manner as may be prescribed by law. And the district judges may exchange districts, or hold courts for each other, when they may deem it expedient, and shall do so when directed by law. The disqualification of judges of inferior tribunals shall be remedied, and vacancies in their offices shall be filled, as prescribed by law.

Sec. 12. All judges of the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals and District Courts shall, by virtue of their offices, be conservators of the peace throughout the State. The style of all writs and process shall be "The State of Texas." All prosecutions shall be carried on in the name and by the authority of "The State of Texas," and conclude "against the peace and dignity of the State."

Sec. 13. Grand and petit juries in the District Courts shall be composed of twelve men; but nine members of a grand jury shall be a quorum to transact business and present bills. In trials of civil cases, and in trials of criminal cases below the grade of felony in the District Courts, nine members of the jury, concurring, may render a verdict, but when the verdict shall be rendered by less than the whole number, it shall be signed by every member of the jury concurring in it. When, pending the trial of any case, one or more jurors not exceeding three, may die, or be disabled from sitting, the remainder of the jury shall have the power to render the verdict; provided, that the Legislature may change or modify the rule authorizing less than the whole number of the jury to render a verdict.

Sec. 14. The Judicial Districts in this State and the time of holding the courts therein are fixed by ordinance forming part of this Constitution, until otherwise provided by law.

Sec. 15. There shall be established in each county in this State a County Court, which shall be a court of record; and there shall be elected in each county, by the qualified voters, a county judge, who shall be well informed in the law of the State; shall be a conservator of the peace, and shall hold his office for two years, and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. He shall receive as a compensation for his services such fees and perquisites as may be prescribed by law.

Sec. 16. The County Court shall have original jurisdiction in all misdemeanors, of which exclusive original jurisdiction is not given to the Justice's Court, as the same are now or may be hereafter prescribed by law, and when the fine to be imposed shall exceed two hundred dollars; and they shall have exclusive original jurisdiction in all civil cases when the matter in controversy shall exceed in value two hundred dollars, and not exceed five hundred dollars, exclusive of interest; and concurrent jurisdiction with the District Courts, when the matter in controversy shall exceed five hundred and not exceed one thousand dollars, exclusive of interest, but shall not have jurisdiction of suits for the recovery of land. They shall have appellate jurisdiction in cases, civil and criminal, of which Justice's Courts have original jurisdiction, but of such civil cases only when the judgment of the court appealed from, shall exceed twenty dollars, exclusive of costs, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law. In all appeals from Justice's Courts, there shall be a trial de novo in the County Court, and when the judgment rendered or fine imposed by the County Court shall not exceed one hundred dollars such trial shall be final; but if the judgment rendered or fine imposed shall exceed one hundred dollars, as well as in all cases, civil and criminal, of which the County Court has exclusive or concurrent original jurisdiction, an appeal shall lie to the Court of Appeals, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law. The County Courts shall have the general jurisdiction of a Probate Court. They shall probate wills, appoint guardians of minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of executors, administrators and guardians, transact all business appertaining to the estates of deceased persons, minors, idiots, lunatics, persons non compos mentis, and common drunkards, including the settlement, partition and distribution of estates of deceased persons, and to apprentice minors as provided by law. And the County Courts, or judges thereof, shall have power to issue writs of mandamus, injunction, and all other writs necessary to the enforcement of the jurisdiction of said courts; and to issue writs of habeas corpus in cases where the offense charged is within the jurisdiction of the County Court, or any other court or tribunal inferior to said court. The County Court shall not have criminal jurisdiction in any county where there is a Criminal District Court, unless expressly conferred by law; and in such counties appeals from Justice's Courts and other inferior courts and tribunals, in criminal cases shall be to the Criminal District Courts under such regulations as may be prescribed by law, and in all such cases an appeal shall lie from such District Court to the Court of Appeals. Any case pending in the County Court, which the county judge may be disqualified to try, shall be transferred to the District Court of the same county for trial; and where there exists any cause disqualifying the county judge for the trial of a cause of which the County Court has jurisdiction, the District Court of such county shall have original jurisdiction of such cause.

Sec. 17. The County Court shall hold a term for civil business at least once in every two months, and shall dispose of probate business, either in term time or vacation as may be provided by law; and said court shall hold a term for criminal business once in every month as may be provided by law. Prosecutions may be commenced in said court by information filed by the county attorney, or by affidavit, as may be provided by law. Grand juries empaneled in the District Courts shall inquire into misdemeanors, and all indictments therefor returned into the District Courts shall forthwith be certified to the County Courts or other inferior courts, having jurisdiction to try them for trial; and if such indictment be quashed in the County, or other inferior court, the person charged, shall not be discharged if there is probable cause of guilt, but may be held by such court or magistrate to answer an information or affidavit. A jury in the County Court shall consist of six men; but no jury shall be empaneled to try a civil case, unless demanded by one of the parties, who shall pay such jury fee therefor, in advance, as may be prescribed by law, unless he makes affidavit that he is unable to pay the same.

Sec. 18. Each organized county in the State now or hereafter existing, shall be divided from time to time, for the convenience of the people, into precincts, not less than four and not more than eight. The present County Courts shall make the first division. Subsequent divisions shall be made by the Commissioners' Court, provided for by this Constitution. In each such precinct there shall be elected at each biennial election, one justice of the peace and one constable, each of whom shall hold his office for two years and until his successor shall be elected and qualified; provided, that in any precinct in which there may be a city of eight thousand or more inhabitants, there shall be elected two justices of the peace. Each county shall in like manner be divided into four commissioners' precincts, in each of which there shall be elected by the qualified voters thereof one county commissioner, who shall hold his office for two years and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. The county commissioners so chosen, with the county judge, as presiding officer, shall compose the County Commissioners' Court, which shall exercise such powers and jurisdiction over all county business, as is conferred by this Constitution and the laws of this State, or as may be hereafter prescribed.

Sec. 19. Justices of the peace shall have jurisdiction in criminal matters of all cases where the penalty or fine to be imposed by law may not be more than for two hundred dollars, and in civil matters of all cases where the amount in controversy is two hundred dollars or less, exclusive of interest, of which exclusive original jurisdiction is not given to the District or County Courts; and such other jurisdiction, criminal and civil, as may be provided by law, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law; and appeals to the County Courts shall be allowed in all cases decided in Justices' Courts where the judgment is for more than twenty dollars exclusive of costs, and in all criminal cases; under such regulations as may be prescribed by law. And the justices of the peace shall be ex-officio notaries public; and they shall hold their courts at such times and places as may be provided by law.

Sec. 20. There shall be elected for each county, by the qualified voters, a county clerk, who shall hold his office for two years, who shall be clerk of the County and Commissioners' Courts and recorder of the county, whose duties, perquisites and fees of office shall be prescribed by the Legislature, and a vacancy in whose office shall be filled by the Commissioners' Court, until the next general election for county and State officers; provided, that in counties having a population of less than eight thousand persons there may be an election of a single clerk, who shall perform the duties of district and county clerks.

Sec. 21. A county attorney, for counties in which there is not a resident criminal district attorney, shall be elected by the qualified voters of each county, who shall be commissioned by the governor, and hold his office for the term of two years. In case of vacancy, the Commissioners' Court of the county shall have power to appoint a county attorney until the next general election. The county attorneys shall represent the State in all cases in the district and inferior courts in their respective counties; but if any county shall be included in a district in which there shall be a district attorney, the respective duties of district attorneys and county attorneys shall in such counties be regulated by the Legislature. The Legislature may provide for the election of district attorneys in such districts as may be deemed necessary, and make provision for the compensation of district attorneys, and county attorneys; provided, district attorneys shall receive an annual salary of five hundred dollars, to be paid by the State, and such fees, commissions and perquisites as may be provided by law. County attorneys shall receive as compensation only such fees, commissions and perquisites as may be prescribed by law.

Sec. 22. The Legislature shall have power, by local or general law, to increase, diminish or change the civil and criminal jurisdiction of County Courts; and in cases of any such change of jurisdiction the Legislature shall also conform the jurisdiction of the other courts to such change.

Sec. 23. There shall be elected by the qualified voters of each county a sheriff, who shall hold his office for the term of two years, whose duties and perquisites, and fees of office, shall be prescribed by the Legislature, and vacancies in whose office shall be filled by the Commissioners' Court until the next general election for county or State officers.

Sec. 24. County judges, county attorneys, clerks of the District and County Courts, justices of the peace, constables, and other county officers, may be removed by the judges of the District Courts for incompetency, official misconduct, habitual drunkenness, or other causes defined by law, upon the cause therefor being set forth in writing, and the finding of its truth by a jury.

Sec. 25. The Supreme Court shall have power to make rules and regulations for the government of said court, and the other courts of the State, to regulate proceedings and expedite the dispatch of business therein.

Sec. 26. The State shall have no right of appeal in criminal cases.

Sec. 27. The Legislature shall, at its first session, provide for the transfer of all business, civil and criminal, pending in District Courts, over which jurisdiction is given by this Constitution to the County Courts, or other inferior courts, to such County or inferior courts, and for the trial or disposition of all such causes by such County or other inferior courts.

Sec. 28. Vacancies in the office of judges in the Supreme Court, of the Court of Appeals, and District Court, shall be filled by the governor until the next succeeding general election; and vacancies in the office of county judge, and justices of the peace, shall be filled by the Commissioners' Court, until the next general election for such offices.

Fifth—All soldiers, marines and seamen, employed in the service of the army or navy of the United States.

Sec. 2. Every male person subject to none of the foregoing disqualifications, who shall have attained the age of twenty-one years, and who shall be a citizen of the United States, and who shall have resided in this State one year next preceding an election, and the last six months within the district or county in which he offers to vote, shall be deemed a qualified elector; and every male person of foreign birth, subject to none of the foregoing disqualifications, who, at any time before an election, shall have declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States in accordance with the federal naturalization laws, and shall have resided in this State one year next preceding such election, and the last six months in the county in which he offers to vote, shall also be deemed a qualified elector; and all electors shall vote in the election precinct of their residence; provided, that electors living in any unorganized county, may vote at any election precinct in the county to which such county is attached for judicial purposes.

Sec. 3. All qualified electors of the State, as herein described, who shall have resided for six months immediately preceding an election within the limits of any city or corporate town, shall have the right to vote for mayor and all other elective officers; but in all elections to determine expenditure of money or assumption of debt, only those shall be qualified to vote who pay taxes on property in said city or incorporated town; provided, that no poll tax for the payment of debts thus incurred shall be levied upon the persons debarred from voting in relation thereto.

Sec. 4. In all elections by the people the vote shall be by ballot, and the Legislature shall provide for the numbering of tickets and make such other regulations as may be necessary to detect and punish fraud and preserve the purity of the ballot box; but no law shall ever be enacted requiring a registration of the voters of this State.

Sec. 5. Voters shall, in all cases, except treason, felony or breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at elections, and in going to and returning therefrom.

ARTICLE VII.—Education— The Public Free Schools.

Section 1. A general diffusion of knowledge being essential to the preservation of the liberties and rights of the people, it shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools.

Sec. 2. All funds, lands and other property heretofore set apart and appropriated for the support of public schools; all the alternate sections of land reserved by the State out of grants heretofore made or that may hereafter be made to railroads, or other corporations, of any nature whatsoever; one-half of the public domain of the State; and all sums of money that may come to the State from the sale of any portion of the same, shall constitute a perpetual school fund.

Sec. 3. There shall be set apart annually not more than one-fourth of the general revenue of the State, and a poll tax of one dollar on all male inhabitants in this State between the ages of twenty-one and sixty years, for the benefit of the public free schools.

Sec. 4. The land herein set apart to the public free school fund shall be sold under such regulations, at such times and on such terms as may be prescribed by law; and the Legislature shall not have power to grant any relief to the purchasers thereof. The comptroller shall invest the proceeds of such sales, and of those heretofore made, as may be directed by the Board of Education herein provided for, in the bonds of this State, if the same can be obtained, otherwise in United States bonds; and the United States bonds now belonging to said fund shall likewise be invested in State bonds, if the same can be obtained on terms advantageous to the school fund.

Sec. 5. The principal of all bonds and other funds, and the principal arising from the sale of the lands hereinbefore set apart for said school fund, shall be the permanent school fund; and all the interest derivable therefrom and the taxes herein authorized and levied shall be the available school fund, which shall be applied annually to the support of the public free schools. And no law shall ever be enacted appropriating any part of the permanent or available school fund to any other purpose whatever; nor shall the same or any part thereof ever be appropriated to or used for the support of any sectarian school; and the available school fund herein provided shall be distributed to the several counties according to their scholastic population and applied in manner as may be provided by law.

Sec. 6. All lands heretofore or hereafter granted to the several counties of this State for education or schools, are of right the property of said counties respectively to which they were granted, and title thereto is vested in said counties, and no adverse possession or limitation shall ever be available against the title of any county. Each county may sell or dispose of its lands in whole or in part, in manner to be provided by the Commissioners' Court of the county. Actual settlers residing on said lands shall be protected in the prior right of purchasing the same to the extent of their settlement, not to exceed one hundred and sixty acres, at the price fixed by said court, which price shall not include the value of existing improvements made thereon by such settlers. Said lands and the proceeds thereof, when sold, shall be held by said counties alone as a trust for the benefit of public schools therein; said proceeds to be invested in bonds of the State of Texas, or of the United States, and only the interest thereon to be used and expended annually.

Sec. 7. Separate schools shall be provided for the white and colored children, and impartial provision shall be made for both.

Sec. 8. The governor, comptroller and secretary of state shall constitute a Board of Education, who shall distribute said funds to the several counties and perform such other duties concerning public schools as may be prescribed by law.

Asylums.

Sec. 9. All lands heretofore granted for the benefit of the Lunatic, Blind, Deaf and Dumb, and Orphan Asylums, together with such donations as may have been or may hereafter be made to either of them, respectively, as indicated in the several grants, are hereby set apart to provide a permanent fund for the support, maintenance and improvement of said asylums. And the Legislature may provide for the sale of the lands and investment of the proceeds in manner as provided for the sale and investment of school lands in section 4 of this Article.

University.

Sec. 10. The Legislature shall, as soon as practicable, establish, organize and provide for the maintenance, support and direction of a university of the first class, to be located by a vote of the people of this State, and styled "The University of Texas," for the promotion of literature, and the arts and sciences, including an agricultural and mechanical department.

Sec. 11. In order to enable the Legislature to perform the duties set forth in the foregoing section, it is hereby declared that all lands and other property heretofore set apart and appropriated for the establishment and maintenance of "The University of Texas," together with all the proceeds of sales of the same, heretofore made or hereafter to be made, and all grants, donations and appropriations that may hereafter be made by the State of Texas, or from any other source, shall constitute and become a permanent university fund. And the same as realized and received into the treasury of the State, (together with such sums, belonging to the fund, as may now be in the treasury), shall be invested in bonds of the State of Texas, if the same can be obtained; if, not, then in United States bonds, and the interest accruing thereon shall be subject to appropriation by the Legislature to accomplish the purpose declared in the foregoing section; provided, that one-tenth of the alternate sections of the lands granted to railroads, reserved by the State, which were set apart and appropriated to the establishment of "The University of Texas," by an act of the Legislature of February 11, 1858, entitled "An act to establish 'The University of Texas,'" shall not be included in or constitute a part of the permanent university fund.

Sec. 12. The land herein set apart to the university fund shall be sold under such regulations, at such times, and on such terms, as may be provided by law; and the Legislature shall provide for the prompt collection, at maturity, of all debts due on account of university lands, heretofore sold, or that may hereafter be sold, and shall in neither event have the power to grant relief to the purchasers.

Sec. 13. The Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, established by an act of the Legislature, passed April 17, 1871, located in the county of Brazos, is hereby made, and constituted a branch of the University of Texas, for instruction in agriculture, the mechanic arts and the natural sciences connected therewith. And the Legislature shall, at its next session, make an appropriation, not to exceed forty thousand dollars for the construction and completion of the buildings and improvements, and for providing the furniture necessary to put said college in immediate and successful operation.

Sec. 14. The Legislature shall also when deemed practicable, establish and provide for the maintenance of a College or Branch University for the instruction of the colored youths of the State, to be located by a vote of the people; provided, that no tax shall be levied, and no money appropriated out of the general revenue, either for this purpose or for the establishment and erection of the buildings of the University of Texas.

Sec. 15. In addition to the lands heretofore granted to the University of Texas, there is hereby set apart, and appropriated, for the endowment, maintenance and support of said University and its branches, one million acres of the unappropriated public domain of the State, to be designated and surveyed as may be provided by law; and said lands shall be sold under the same regulations, and the proceeds invested in the same manner as is provided for the sale and investment of the permanent University fund; and the Legislature shall not have power to grant any relief to the purchasers of said lands.

ARTICLE VIII.—Taxation and Revenue.

Section 1. Taxation shall be equal and uniform. All property in this State, whether owned by natural persons or corporations, other than municipal, shall be taxed in proportion to its value, which shall be ascertained as may be provided by law. The Legislature may impose a poll tax. It may also impose occupation taxes, both upon natural persons and upon corporations, other than municipal, doing any business in this State. It may also tax incomes of both natural persons and corporations, other than municipal, except that persons engaged in mechanical and agricultural pursuits shall never be required to pay an occupation tax; provided, that two hundred and fifty dollars worth of household and kitchen furniture, belonging to each family in this State, shall be exempt from taxation, and provided further that the occupation tax levied by any county, city or town, for any year, on persons or corporations pursuing any profession or business, shall not exceed one-half of the tax levied by the State for the same period on such profession or business.

Sec. 2. All occupation taxes shall be equal and uniform upon the same class of subjects within the limits of the authority levying the tax; but the Legislature may, by general laws, exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes; actual places of religious worship; places of burial not held for private or corporate profit; all buildings used exclusively and owned by persons or associations of persons for school purposes, (and the necessary furniture of all schools,) and institutions of purely public charity; and all laws exempting property from taxation other than the property above mentioned, shall be void.

Sec. 3. Taxes shall be levied and collected by general laws and for public purposes only.

Sec. 4. The power to tax corporations and corporate property shall not be surrendered or suspended by act of the Legislature, by any contract or grant to which the State shall be a party.

Sec. 5. All property of railroad companies, of whatever description, lying or being within the limits of any city or incorporated town within this State, shall bear its proportionate share of municipal taxation, and if any such property shall not have been heretofore rendered, the authorities of the city or town within which it lies, shall have power to require its rendition, and collect the usual municipal tax thereon, as on other property lying within said municipality.

Sec. 6. No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in pursuance of specific appropriations made by law; nor shall any appropriation of money be made for a longer term than two years, except by the first Legislature to assemble under this Constitution, which may make the necessary appropriations to carry on the government until the assemblage of the Sixteenth Legislature.

Sec. 7. The Legislature shall not have power to borrow, or in any manner divert from its purpose any special fund that may, or ought to, come into the treasury; and shall make it penal for any person or persons to borrow, withhold, or in any manner to divert from its purpose, any special fund, or any part thereof.

Sec. 8. All property of railroad companies shall be assessed, and the taxes collected in the several counties in which said property is situated, including so much of the roadbed and fixtures as shall be in each county. The rolling stock may be assessed in gross in the county where the principal office of the company is located, and the county tax paid upon it shall be apportioned by the comptroller, in proportion to the distance such road may run through any such county, among the several counties through which the road passes, as a part of their tax assets.

Sec. 9. The State tax, on property, exclusive of the tax necessary to pay the public debt, shall never exceed fifty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation, and no county, city or town shall levy more than one-half of said State tax, except for the payment of debts already incurred, and for the erection of public buildings, not to exceed fifty cents on the one hundred dollars in any one year, and except as in this Constitution is otherwise provided.

Sec. 10. The Legislature shall have no power to release the inhabitants of, or property in, any county, city or town, from the payment of taxes levied for State or county purposes, unless in case of great public calamity in any such county, city or town, when such release may be made by a vote of two-thirds of each house of the Legislature.

Sec. 11. All property, whether owned by persons or corporations, shall be assessed for taxation, and the taxes paid in the county where situated, but the Legislature may by a two-thirds vote, authorize the payment of taxes of non-residents of counties to be made at the office of the comptroller of public accounts. And all lands and other property not rendered for taxation by the owner thereof shall be assessed at its fair value by the proper officer.

Sec. 12. All property subject to taxation in, and owned by residents of unorganized counties, shall be assessed and the taxes thereon paid in the counties to which such unorganized counties shall be attached for judicial purposes; and lands lying in and owned by non-residents of unorganized counties, and lands lying in the territory not laid off into counties, shall be assessed and the taxes thereon collected at the office of the comptroller of the State.

Sec. 13. Provision shall be made by the first Legislature for the speedy sale of a sufficient portion of all lands and other property for the taxes due thereon, and every year thereafter for the sale of all lands and other property upon which the taxes have not been paid, and the deed of conveyance to the purchaser for all lands and other property thus sold shall be held to vest a good and perfect title in the purchaser thereof, subject to be impeached only for actual fraud; provided, that the former owner shall, within two years from date of purchaser's deed, have the right to redeem the land upon the payment of double the amount of money paid for the land.

Sec. 14. There shall be elected by the qualified electors of each county, at the same time and under the same law regulating the election of State and county officers, an assessor of taxes, who shall hold his office for two years and until his successor is elected and qualified.

Sec. 15. The annual assessment made upon landed property shall be a special lien thereon, and all property, both real and personal, belonging to any delinquent taxpayer, shall be liable to seizure and sale for the payment of all the taxes and penalties due by such delinquent; and such property may be sold for the payment of the taxes and penalties due by such delinquent, under such regulations as the Legislature may provide.

Sec. 16. The sheriff of each county in addition to his other duties, shall be the collector of taxes therefor. But in counties having ten thousand inhabitants, to be determined by the last preceding census of the United States, a collector of taxes shall be elected to hold office for two years and until his successor shall be elected and qualified.

Sec. 17. The specification of the objects and subjects of taxation shall not deprive the Legislature of the power to require other subjects or objects to be taxed in such manner as may be consistent with the principles of taxation fixed in this Constitution.

Sec. 18. The Legislature shall provide for equalizing, as near as may be, the valuation of all property subject to or rendered for taxation, (the County Commissioner's Court to constitute a board of equalization); and may also provide for the classification of all lands with reference to their value in the several counties.

ARTICLE IX.—Counties.

Section 1. The Legislature shall have power to create counties for the convenience of the people, subject to the following provisions:

First. In the territory of the State exterior to all counties now existing, no new counties shall be created with a less area than nine hundred square miles, in a square form, unless prevented by pre-existing boundary lines. Should the State lines render this impracticable in border counties, the area may be less. The territory referred to may, at any time, in whole or in part, be divided into counties in advance of population, and attached, for judicial and land surveying purposes, to the most convenient organized county or counties.

Second. Within the territory of any county or counties now existing, no new county shall be created with a less area than seven hundred square miles, nor shall any such county now existing be reduced to a less area than seven hundred square miles. No new counties shall be created so as to approach nearer than twelve miles of the county seat of any county from which it may, in whole or in part, be taken. Counties of a less area than nine hundred, but of seven hundred or more square miles, within counties now existing, may be created by a two-thirds vote of each house of the Legislature, taken by yeas and nays, and entered on the journals. Any county now existing may be reduced to an area of not less than seven hundred square miles by a like two-thirds vote. When any part of a county is stricken off and attached to or created into another county, the part stricken off shall be holden for and obliged to pay its proportion of all the liabilities then existing of the county from which it was taken, in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

Third. No part of any existing county shall be detached from it and attached to another existing county until the proposition for such change shall have been submitted, in such manner as may be provided by law, to a vote of the electors of both counties, and shall have received a majority of those voting on the question in each.

County Seats.

Sec. 2. The Legislature shall pass laws regulating the manner of removing county seats, but no county seat situated within five miles of the geographical centre of the county shall be removed, except by a vote of two-thirds of all the electors voting on the subject. A majority of such electors, however, voting at such election, may remove a county seat from a point more than five miles from the geographical centre of the county to a point within five miles of such centre, in either case the centre to be determined by a certificate from the commissioner of the general land office.

ARTICLE X.—Railroads.

Section 1. Any railroad corporation or association, organized under the law for the purpose, shall have the right to construct and operate a railroad between any points within this State, and to connect at the State line with railroads of other States. Every railroad company shall have the right, with its road, to intersect, connect with or cross any other railroad; and shall receive and transport each the others passengers, tonnage and cars, loaded or empty, without delay or discrimination, under such regulations as shall be prescribed by law.

Sec. 2. Railroads heretofore constructed, or that may hereafter be constructed in this State, are hereby declared public highways, and railroad companies common carriers. The Legislature shall pass laws to correct abuses and prevent unjust discrimination and extortion in the rates of freight and passenger tariffs on the different railroads in this State; and shall from time to time pass laws establishing reasonable maximum rates of charges for the transportation of passengers and freight on said railroads, and enforce all such laws by adequate penalties.

Sec. 3. Every railroad or other corporation, organized or doing business in this State under the laws or authority thereof, shall have and maintain a public office or place in this State for the transaction of its business, where transfers of stock shall be made, and where shall be kept, for inspection by the stockholders of such corporations, books, in which shall be recorded the amount of capital stock subscribed, the names of the owners of the stock, the amounts owned by them respectively, the amount of stock paid, and by whom, the transfer of said stock, with the date of the transfer, the amount of its assets and liabilities, and the names and places of residence of its officers. The directors of every railroad company shall hold one meeting annually in this State, public notice of which shall be given thirty days previously, and the president or superintendent shall report annually, under oath, to the comptroller or governor, their acts and doings, which report shall include such matters relating to railroads as may be prescribed by law. The Legislature shall pass laws enforcing by suitable penalties the provisions of this section.

Sec. 4. The rolling stock and all other movable property belonging to any railroad company or corporation in this State shall be considered personal property, and its real and personal property, or any part thereof, shall be liable to execution and sale in the same manner as the property of individuals; and the Legislature shall pass no laws exempting any such property from execution and sale.

Sec. 5. No railroad or other corporation, or the lessees, purchasers or managers of any railroad corporation, shall consolidate the stock, property or franchises of such corporation, with, or lease or purchase the works or franchises of, or in any way control any railroad corporation owning or having under its control a parallel or competing line; nor shall any officer of such railroad corporation act as an officer of any other railroad corporation owning or having the control of a parallel or competing line.

Sec. 6. No railroad company organized under the laws of this State shall consolidate by private or judicial sale or otherwise with any railroad company organized under the laws of any other State or of the United States.

Sec. 7. No law shall be passed by the Legislature granting the right to construct and corporate a street railroad within any city, town, or village, or upon any public highway, without first acquiring the consent of the local authorities having control of the street or highway proposed to be occupied by such street railroad.

Sec. 8. No railroad corporation in existence at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall have the benefit of any future legislation, except on condition of complete acceptance of all the provisions of this Constitution applicable to railroads.

Sec. 9. No railroad hereafter constructed in this State shall pass within a distance of three miles of any county seat without passing through the same, and establishing and maintaining a depot therein, unless prevented by natural obstacles, such as streams, hills or mountains; provided, such town or its citizens shall grant the right of way through its limits and sufficient ground for ordinary depot purposes.

ARTICLE XI.—Municipal Corporations.

Section 1. The several counties of this State are hereby recognized as legal subdivisions of the State.

Sec. 2. The construction of jails, court-houses and bridges, and the establishment of county poor houses and farms, and the laying out, construction and repairing of county roads shall be provided for by general laws.

Sec. 3. No county, city or other municipal corporation shall hereafter become a subscriber to the capital of any private corporation or association, or make any appropriation or donation to the same, or in anywise loan its credit; but this shall not be construed to in any way affect any obligation heretofore undertaken pursuant to law.

Sec. 4. Cities and towns having a population of ten thousand inhabitants or less, may be chartered alone by general law. They may levy, assess and collect an annual tax to defray the current expenses of their local government, but such tax shall never exceed, for any one year, one-fourth of one per cent., and shall be collectable only in current money. And all license and occupation tax levied, and all fines, forfeitures, penalties and other dues accruing to cities and towns shall be collectable only in current money.

Sec. 5. Cities having more than ten thousand inhabitants may have their charters granted or amended by special act of the Legislature, and may levy, assess and collect such taxes as may be authorized by law, but no tax for any purpose shall ever be lawful, for any one year, which shall exceed two and one-half per cent. of the taxable property of such city; and no debt shall ever be created by any city, unless at the same time provision be made to assess and collect annually a sufficient sum to pay the interest thereon and create a sinking fund of at least two per cent. thereon.

Sec. 6. Counties, cities and towns are authorized, in such mode as may now or may hereafter be provided by law, to levy, assess and collect the taxes necessary to pay the interest and provide a sinking fund to satisfy any indebtedness heretofore legally made and undertaken; but all such taxes shall be assessed and collected separately from that levied, assessed and collected for current expenses of municipal government, and shall when levied specify in the act of levying the purpose therefor, and such taxes may be paid in the coupons, bonds or other indebtedness for the payment of which such tax may have been levied.

Sec. 7. All counties and cities bordering on the coast of the Gulf of Mexico, are hereby authorized, upon a vote of two-thirds of the taxpayers therein (to be ascertained as may be provided by law) to levy and collect such tax for construction of sea walls, breakwaters, or sanitary purposes, as may be authorized by law, and may create a debt for such works and issue bonds in evidence thereof. But no debt for any purpose shall ever be incurred in any manner by any city or county, unless provision is made at the time of creating the same, for levying and collecting a sufficient tax to pay the interest thereon and provide at least two per cent. as a sinking fund; and the condemnation of the right of way for the erection of such works shall be fully provided for.

Sec. 8. The counties and cities on the Gulf coast being subject to calamitous overflows, and a very large proportion of the general revenue being derived from those otherwise prosperous localities, the Legislature is especially authorized to aid by donation of such portion of the public domain as may be deemed proper, and in such mode as may be provided by law, the construction of sea walls, or breakwaters, such aid to be proportioned to the extent and value of the works constructed, or to be constructed, in any locality.

Sec. 9. The property of counties, cities and towns owned and held only for public purposes, such as public buildings and the sites therefor, fire engines and the furniture thereof, and all property used, or intended for extinguishing fires, public grounds and all other property devoted exclusively to the use and benefit of the public shall be exempt from forced sale and from taxation; provided, nothing herein shall prevent the enforcement of the vendor's lien, the mechanic's or builder's lien, or other liens now existing.

Sec. 10. The Legislature may constitute any city or town a separate and independent school district. And when the citizens of any city or town have a charter, authorizing the city authorities to levy and collect a tax for the support and maintenance of a public institution of learning, such tax may hereafter be levied and collected, if, at any election held for that purpose, two-thirds of the tax-payers of such city or town shall vote for such tax.

ARTICLE XII.—Private Corporations.

Section 1. No private corporations shall be created except by general laws.

Sec. 2. General laws shall be enacted providing for the creation of private corporations, and shall therein provide fully for the adequate protection of the public and of the individual stockholders.

Sec. 3. The right to authorize and regulate freights, tolls, wharfage or fares levied and collected or proposed to be levied and collected by individuals, companies or corporations, for the use of highways, landings, wharves, bridges and ferries, devoted to public use, has never been and shall never be relinquished or abandoned by the State, but shall always be under legislative control and depend upon legislative authority.

Sec. 4. The first Legislature assembled after the adoption of this Constitution shall provide a mode of procedure by the attorney general and district or county attorneys, in the name and behalf of the State, to prevent and punish the demanding and receiving or collection of any and all charges as freight, wharfage, fares, or tolls, for the use of property devoted to the public, unless the same shall have been specially authorized by law.

Sec. 5. All laws granting the right to demand and collect freights, fares, tolls or wharfage shall at all times be subject to amendment, modification or repeal by the Legislature.

Sec. 6. No corporation shall issue stock or bonds except for money paid, labor done or property actually received, and all fictitious increase of stock or indebtedness shall be void.

Sec. 7. Nothing in this article shall be construed to divest or affect rights guaranteed by any existing grant or statute of this State, or of the Republic of Texas.

ARTICLE XIII.—Spanish and Mexican Land Titles.

Section 1. All fines, penalties, forfeitures and escheats, which have heretofore accrued to the Republic and State of Texas, under their constitutions and laws, shall accrue to the State under this Constitution; and the Legislature shall provide a method for determining what lands have been forfeited, and for giving effect to escheats; and all such rights of forfeiture and escheats to the State shall ipso facto, inure to the protection of the innocent holders of junior titles, as provided in sections 2, 3 and 4 of this Article.

Sec. 2. Any claim of title or right to land in Texas, issued prior to the 13th day of November 1835, not duly recorded in the county where the land was situated at the time of such record; or not duly archived in the general land office; or not in the actual possession of the grantee thereof, or some person claiming under him, prior to the accruing of junior title thereto from the sovereignty of the soil, under circumstances reasonably calculated to give notice to said junior grantee, has never had, and shall not have, standing or effect against such junior title, or color of title, acquired without such or actual notice of such prior claim of title or right; and no condition annexed to such grants, not archived, or recorded, or occupied as aforesaid, has been, or ever shall be released or waived, but actual performance of all such conditions shall be proved by the person or persons claiming under such title or claim of right in order to maintain action thereon, and the holder of such junior title, or color of title, shall have all the rights of the government which have heretofore existed, or now exist, arising from the non-performance of all such conditions.

Sec. 3. Non-payment of taxes on any claim of title to land, dated prior to the 13th day of November, 1835, not recorded or archived, as provided in section 2, by the person or persons so claiming, or those under whom he or they so claim, from that date up to the date of the adoption of this Constitution, shall be held to be a presumption that the right thereto has reverted to the State, and that said claim is a stale demand, which presumption shall only be rebutted by payment of all taxes on said lands, State, county, and city or town, to be assessed on the fair value of such lands by the comptroller, and paid to him, without commutation or deduction for any part of the above period.

Section 4. No claim of title or right to land, which issued prior to the 13th day of November, 1835, which has not been duly recorded in the county where the land was situated at the time of such record, or which has not been duly archived in the general land office, shall ever hereafter be deposited in the general land office, or recorded in this State, or delineated on the maps, or used as evidence in any of the courts of this State, and the same are stale claims; but this shall not affect such rights or presumptions as arise from actual possession. By the words, "duly recorded," as used in sections 2 and 4 of this Article, it is meant that such claim of title or right to land shall have been recorded in the proper office, and that mere errors in the certificate of registration, or informality, not affecting the fairness and good faith of the holder thereof, with which the record was made, shall not be held to vitiate such record.

Sec. 5. All claims, locations, surveys, grants and titles, of any kind, which are declared null and void by the Constitution of the Republic or State of Texas, are, and the same shall remain forever null and void.

Sec. 6. The Legislature shall pass stringent laws for the detection and conviction of all forgers of land titles, and may make such appropriations of money for that purpose as may be necessary.

Sec. 7. Sections 2, 3, 4 and 5 of this Article, shall not be so construed as to set aside or repeal any law or laws of the Republic or State of Texas, releasing the claimants of headrights of colonists of a league of land, or less, from compliance with the conditions on which their grants were made.

ARTICLE XIV.—Public Lands and Land Office.

Section 1. There shall be one general land office in the State, which shall be at the seat of government, where all land titles which have emanated or may hereafter emanate from the State shall be registered, except those titles the registration of which may be prohibited by this Constitution. It shall be the duty of the Legislature at the earliest practicable time to make the land office self-sustaining, and from time to time the Legislature may establish such subordinate offices as may be deemed necessary.

Sec. 2. All unsatisfied genuine land certificates barred by section 4, Article 10, of the Constitution of 1869, by reason of the holders or owners thereof failing to have them surveyed and returned to the land office by the first day of January, 1875, are hereby revived. All unsatisfied genuine land certificates now in existence shall be surveyed and returned to the general land office within five years after the adoption of this Constitution, or be forever barred; and all genuine land certificates hereafter issued by the State shall be surveyed and returned to the general land office within five years after issuance, or be forever barred; provided, that all genuine land certificates heretofore or hereafter issued shall be located, surveyed or patented only upon vacant and unappropriated public domain, and not upon any land titled or equitably owned under color of title from the sovereignty of the State, evidence of the appropriation of which is on the county records or in the general land office; or when the appropriation is evidenced by the occupation of the owner, or of some person holding for him.

Sec. 3. The Legislature shall have no power to grant any of the lands of this State to any railway company except upon the following restrictions and conditions:

First. That there shall never be granted to any such corporation more than sixteen sections to the mile, and no reservation of any part of the public domain for the purpose of satisfying such grant shall ever be made.

Second. That no land certificate shall be issued to such company until they have equipped, constructed and in running order at least ten miles of road, and on the failure of such company to comply with the terms of its charter or to alienate its land at a period to be fixed by law, in no event to exceed twelve years from the issuance of the patent, all said land shall be forfeited to the State and become a portion of the public domain, and liable to location and survey. The Legislature shall pass general laws only, to give effect to the provisions of this section.

Sec. 4. No certificate for land shall be sold at the land office except to actual settlers upon the same, and in lots not to exceed one hundred and sixty acres.

Sec. 5. All lands heretofore or hereafter granted to railway companies, where the charter or law of the State required or shall hereafter require their alienation within a certain period, on pain of forfeiture, or is silent on the subject of forfeiture, and which lands have not been or shall not hereafter be alienated, in conformity with the terms of their charters, and the laws under which the grants were made, are hereby declared forfeited to the State and subject to pre-emption, location and survey, as other vacant lands. All lands heretofore granted to said railroad companies to which no forfeiture was attached, on their failure to alienate, are not included in the foregoing clause, but in all such last named cases it shall be the duty of the attorney general, in every instance where alienations have been or hereafter may be made, to inquire into the same, and if such alienation has been made in fraud of the rights of the State, and is colorable only, the real and beneficial interest being still in such corporation, to institute legal proceedings in the county where the seat of government is situated to forfeit such lands to the State, and if such alienation be judicially ascertained to be fraudulent and colorable as aforesaid, such lands shall be forfeited to the State and become a part of the vacant public domain, liable to pre-emption, location and survey.

Sec. 6. To every head of a family without a homestead there shall be donated one hundred and sixty acres of public land, upon condition that he will select and locate said land, and occupy the same three years, and pay the office fees due thereon. To all single men of eighteen years of age and upwards shall be donated eighty acres of public land, upon the terms and conditions prescribed for heads of families.

Sec. 7. The State of Texas hereby releases to the owner or owners of the soil all mines and minerals that may be on the same, subject to taxation as other property.

Sec. 8. Persons residing between the Nueces river and the Rio Grande, and owing grants for lands which emanated from the government of Spain, or that of Mexico, which grants have been recognized and validated by the State, by acts of the Legislature, approved February 10, 1852, August 15, 1870, and other acts, and who have been prevented from complying with the requirements of said acts by the unsettled condition of the country, shall be allowed until the first day of January, 1880, to complete their surveys, and the plats thereof, and to return their field notes to the general land office; and all claimants failing to do so shall be forever barred; provided, nothing in this section shall be so construed as to validate any titles not already valid, or to interfere with the rights of third persons.

ARTICLE XV.

Impeachment.

Section 1. The power of impeachment shall be vested in the House of Representatives.

Sec. 2. Impeachment of the governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, treasurer, commissioner of the general land office, comptroller, and the judges of the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals and District Court shall be tried by the Senate.

Sec. 3. When the Senate is sitting as a Court of Impeachment, the senators shall be on oath, or affirmation, impartially to try the the party impeached, and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the senators present.

Sec. 4. Judgment in cases of impeachment shall extend only to removal from office, and disqualification from holding any office of honor, trust, or profit, under this State. A party convicted on impeachment shall also be subject to indictment, trial and punishment, according to law.

Sec. 5. All officers against whom articles of impeachment may be preferred shall be suspended from the exercise of the duties of their office, during the pendency of such impeachment. The governor may make a provisional appointment to fill the vacancy, occasioned by the suspension of an officer until the decision on the impeachment.

Sec. 6. Any judge of the District Courts of the State who is incompetent to discharge the duties of his office, or who shall be guilty of partiality, or oppression, or other official misconduct, or whose habits and conduct are such as to render him unfit to hold such office, or who shall negligently fail to perform his duties as judge, or who shall fail to execute in a reasonable measure the business in his courts, may be removed by the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction to hear and determine the causes aforesaid when presented in writing upon the oaths taken before some judge of a court of record of not less than ten lawyers, practicing in the courts held by such judge, and licensed to practice in the Supreme Court; said presentment to be founded, either upon the knowledge of the persons making it or upon the written oaths as to the facts of creditable witnesses. The Supreme Court may issue all needful process and prescribe all needful rules to give effect to this section. Causes of this kind shall have precedence and be tried as soon as practicable.

Sec. 7. The Legislature shall provide by law for the trial and removal from office of all officers of this State, the modes for which have not been provided in this Constitution.

ADDRESS.

Sec. 8. The Judges of the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals and District Courts, shall be removed by the governor on the address of two-thirds of each house of the Legislature, for wilful neglect of duty, incompetency, habitual drunkenness, oppression in office, or other reasonable cause which shall not be sufficient ground for impeachment; provided, however, that the cause or causes for which such removal shall be required shall be stated at length in such address and entered on the journals of each house; and provided further, that the cause or causes shall be notified to the judge so intended to be removed, and he shall be admitted to a hearing in his own defense before any vote for such address shall pass; and in all such cases, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays and entered on the journals of each house respectively.

ARTICLE XVI.

General Provisions.

Section 1. Members of the Legislature, and all officers, before they enter upon the duties of their offices, shall take the following oath or affirmation: "I, (——) do solemnly swear, (or affirm), that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent upon me as —— according to the best of my skill and ability, agreeably to the Constitution and laws of the United States and of this State; and I do further solemnly swear (or affirm). that since the adoption of the Constitution of this State, I being a citizen of this State, have not fought a duel with deadly weapons, within this State nor out of it, nor have I sent or accepted a challenge to fight a duel with deadly weapons, nor have I acted as second in carrying a challenge, or aided, advised or assisted any person thus offending. And I furthermore solemnly swear, (or affirm), that I have not directly, nor indirectly paid, offered or promised to pay, contributed, nor promised to contribute any money, or valuable thing, or promised any public office or employment, as a reward for the giving or withholding a vote at the election at which I was elected, (or if the office is one of appointment, to secure my appointment.) So help me God."

Sec. 2. Laws shall be made to exclude from office, serving on juries, and from the right of suffrage, those who may have been or shall hereafter be convicted of bribery, perjury, forgery, or other high crimes. The privilege of free suffrage shall be protected by laws regulating elections and prohibiting under adequate penalties all undue influence therein from power, bribery, tumult, or other improper practice.

CHAPTER XVI.—An Act prescribing the times of holding the District Courts in the Twenty-Second Judicial District.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That the District Courts of the Twenty-Second Judicial District shall be held at the times hereinafter specified in each year, to-wit: In the county of Atascosa, on the first Mondays in January and September, and may continue in session two weeks. In the county of Comal, on the third Mondays in January and September, and may continue in session two weeks. In the county of Bexar, on the first Monday in February, and may continue in session until the business is disposed of; on the first Monday in April, and may continue in session until the business is disposed of; on the first Monday in June, and may continue in session four weeks; on the first Monday in October, and may continue in session until the business is disposed of; on the first Monday in December, and may continue in session four weeks.

Sec. 3. All laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

Sec. 4. And, whereas, by the changes herein made of the times of holding the district courts of said district, a conflict would arise between the present law and this act, if this act did not go into effect until ninety days after the adjournment of this legislature; and, whereas, this creates such an emergency as is contemplated by the Constitution, therefore, it is further enacted, that this act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

CHAPTER XVII.—An Act to provide for the transfer of the cases in the late Criminal Courts of the State to the District Courts, and to legalize the proceedings of the District Courts in certain cases.

Whereas, Doubts have arisen as to the power of the District Courts of those counties wherein Criminal Courts have hitherto been established under section one, article five of the Constitution of 1869, and wherein Criminal Courts no longer exist, to exercise jurisdiction over causes pending in said Criminal Courts at the time said courts were abolished, without legislation; and

Whereas, an emergency exists for the removal of such doubts by the passage of a law to go into immediate force and effect, therefore,

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That the District Courts of the several counties in this State, wherein Criminal Courts have been heretofore established under section one, article five of the Constitution of 1869, and wherein such Criminal Courts have been abolished by the adoption of the present Constitution, shall take control of, hear and determine all causes in said Criminal Courts in their respective counties over which said District Courts have jurisdiction; and all parties now under bond or recognizance to appear before said Criminal Courts to answer charges of felony shall appear and answer before the respective District Courts having jurisdiction of their respective causes.

Sec. 2. That all process heretofore issued from such Criminal Courts shall be returnable to the District Courts of the respective counties in which said Criminal Courts were established.

Sec. 3. That all proceedings heretofore had in said District Courts on and after the eighteenth day of April, 1876, in causes pending in said Criminal Courts at the time the present Constitution went into effect, are hereby legalized and made valid.

Sec. 4. That this act take effect from and after its passage.

Approved May 30, 1876.

Takes effect from and after its passage.

CHAPTER XVIII.—An Act to authorize the Secretary of State to employ extra clerks in his office, and to make an appropriation to pay the same.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That the Secretary of State be, and he is hereby authorized to employ such extra clerks in his office as may be necessary to enable him to do the business of his office promptly and without delay: provided, that said clerks shall be employed at such times as he may deem proper after the passage of this act and before the first day of September, A. D., 1876: and provided further, that the aggregate amount of the pay of said extra clerks employed under this act shall not exceed five hundred dollars.

Sec. 2. That the sum of five hundred dollars, or so much thereof as may be needed, be, and the same is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to pay said extra clerks and the certificate of the Secretary of State that such clerk or clerks have been employed by him, stating the time they have been so employed, and the amount due them, shall be sufficient authority for the Comptroller to draw his warrant on the Treasurer for the payment of the same.

Sec. 3. Whereas the business of the office of the Secretary of State cannot be done with the present clerical force in the office, without great delay, there being several thousand officers to be commissioned, besides the other current business of the office, therefore it is declared that an emergency exists that this act should take effect immediately; therefore it is enacted that this act take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved May 30, 1876.

Takes effect from and after its passage.

CHAPTER XIX.—An Act to authorize the Commissioner of the General Land Office to appoint one draftsman, two corresponding clerks, and special clerks in certain cases.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That the Commissioner of the General Land Office be and is hereby authorized and empowered to appoint a draftsman under an act to provide for the re-compilation of an abstract of the located, titled and patented lands in Texas, and two corresponding clerks, and that the payment of the salaries of the above draftsman and corresponding clerks shall be provided for in the deficiency appropriation for the General Land Office.

Sec. 2. That when the force in the General Land Office shall not be sufficient, owing to the pressure of other duties, to furnish, within a reasonable time, the copies of field notes and surveys provided for under an act to require the Commissioner of the General Land Office to furnish copies of surveys and field notes to the counties of the State, approved April the twenty-ninth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, then the Commissioner of the General Land Office is hereby authorized and empowered to employ special clerks to make said copies, who shall be allowed at the rate of eight cents for every one hundred words so copied; to be paid by the county applying for the same, upon the certificate of the Commissioner of the performance of the service.

Sec. 3. That, whereas, the exigencies of the service require the appointment of the draftsman and clerks provided for in section one of this act; and, whereas, the appropriation for their services was through a clerical error, which the records show, omitted in the General appropriations for eighteen hundred and seventy-five and eighteen hundred and seventy-six; this act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved June 1st, 1876.

Takes effect from and after its passage.

CHAPTER XX.—An Act to make an appropriation to pay the salaries of the Judges, and other expenses connected with the Court of Appeals, for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1876.

Sec. 2. That the certificate of the Clerk of the Court of Appeals, approved by the presiding Judge thereof, shall be sufficient evidence to authorize the Comptroller to draw his warrant upon the Treasurer of the State against the appropriation herein made.

Sec. 3. That this appropriation being necessary to discharge the pressing demands and every day expenses of the court and its officers, and an emergency, and an imperative public necessity, exist for the immediate passage of this act, it shall therefore take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved June 2, 1876.

Takes effect from and after its passage.

CHAPTER XXI.—An Act to define the duties of Judges of the County Courts in certain cases therein mentioned.

Sec. 2. That all laws and parts of laws now in force and contravening the provisions of this act, be and the same are hereby repealed; that an imperative public necessity for the immediate passage of this act, and an emergency requiring that the same take effect and be in force from and after its passage, both exist, there being grave doubts as to whether there now exists any statute now in force in this State, whereby lands, belonging to individuals, may be condemned for railroad purposes, and many railroads in said State being liable to forfeit their charters, unless immediate relief, as herein contemplated, be granted; therefore that this act take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved June 2, 1876.

Sec. 3. A special term shall be held in Presidio county at the courthouse thereof, to begin on the third Monday in July, and to continue in session two weeks.

Sec. 2. Whereas, the appropriation for postage to be used in the office of the Secretary of State, for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1876, has been exhausted, and there being no appropriation for said purpose, and it being necessary that an appropriation be made for said purpose, to prevent delay in the business of said office, therefore, it is declared, that an emergency exists requiring this bill to take effect from and after its passage, and it is so enacted.

CHAPTER XXVII.—An Act to organize the County Courts and define their powers and jurisdiction.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That there shall be established in each county in this State a Court of Record, styled the County Court; and there shall be elected by the qualified electors thereof, at the next general election for State and County officers, and every two years thereafter, one County Judge, who shall hold his office for the term of two years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified, and all vacancies in said office, shall be filled by the County Commissioners' Court of the county until the next general election.

In all cases, civil and criminal, of which the County Court has exclusive or concurrent original jurisdiction, and in all cases appealed from Justices' Courts, if in said last named cases the judgment rendered or fine imposed, or the amount in controversy in the County Court shall exceed one hundred dollars, an appeal shall lie to the Court of Appeals, under the same rules and regulations as are prescribed by law for the regulation of appeals from the District to the Supreme Court of the State of Texas. In all proceedings of administration and guardianship, an appeal shall lie to the District Court under such rules and regulations as are prescribed by the law regulating administrations of estates of decedents and wards. In all counties where there is a Criminal

The Secretary of State shall also superintend the printing of the same, and shall read and correct the proof; provided, however, that this requirement shall not dispense with the duty of the printer to furnish some competent person or

After which it shall be examined by the practical printer and Printing Board, and if found correct, approved by said Board. Whereas, Under the provisions of an act to provide for the sale of the alternate sections of land, as surveyed by railroad companies and set apart for the benefit of the common school fund, approved April 24th, 1874, many citizens of the State of Texas have settled upon lands which they erroneously supposed to be portions of said alternate sections of land set apart for common school purposes; and, whereas, said citizens have by reason of said error paid into the State Treasury a part of the purchase money for said lands, when in truth, and in fact, said lands so paid on by them were not a part of the lands set apart for said common school fund; and, whereas, there exists no legal remedy for these parties who have so paid, as aforesaid, and they having received no consideration for said payments so made; therefore,

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That any person or persons who may have heretofore purchased any land of the State supposed to have been set apart for the benefit of the school fund, and who cannot obtain a patent or title to the same, because the land designated by said purchaser, and for which the settler has paid the money into the Treasury, was not a part of the school fund of the State, shall have the right to recover the money so paid in the following manner: Said party, or his heirs or assigns, shall present to the Comptroller of Public Accounts the certificate given him by the County Surveyor in pursuance of the requirements of Section 7, of "An Act to provide for the sale of the alternate sections of land surveyed by railroad companies, and set apart for the benefit of the common school fund," approved April 24th, 1874, and a certificate from the Commissioner of the General Land Office, stating that the land designated in said surveyor's certificate is not and was not at the time of the purchase a part of the said school fund; and also the receipt of the Treasurer showing the amount paid on said lands, and satisfactory evidence of the identity of the party in whose favor the claim is made; whereupon the Comptroller shall issue his warrant upon the State Treasury for the amount of money paid in by the purchaser.

Sec. 3. Upon presentation to the Comptroller of Public Accounts of such certificate from the Commissioner of the General Land Office, properly authenticated, it shall be his duty to draw his warrant upon the State Treasurer, in favor of the party holding such certificate, for the whole amount originally paid into the General Land Office, as shown by the certificate of the Commissioner thereof, with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent. per annum from the date of the original payment into the Land Office to the date of the said warrant on the State Treasurer. The sum of two hundred dollars, or so much thereof as may be required, is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to carry out the provisions of this act.

The Clerks shall also record all the proceedings of said Courts authorized to take place in the vacation between the terms; and such records so made in vacation shall be read over and signed on the first day of the proper court next after such proceeding took place.

Sec. 12. Any three members of the Commissioners' Court, including the County Judge, shall constitute a quorum; provided, however, that no county tax shall be levied unless at some one of the regular terms, and when a full court is present.

Sec. 14. The County Judges and County Commissioners shall each receive the sum of three dollars per day for every day that they may be necessarily engaged in attendance on any regular term of said court, and the same amount for any special term, except as prescribed in the preceding section, to be paid out of the county treasury, upon the order of said court.

Sec. 15. All books, records, papers and effects belonging to the State Police Courts of the different counties of this State shall be transferred to the Commissioners' Courts established by this act; and the said Commissioners' Courts shall have and exercise all the powers conferred by law on County Courts as heretofore existing, which are not herein enumerated, and which are not in conflict with the provisions of this act.

Sec. 16. Neither the County Judges nor any of the Commissioners shall enter upon the duties of their offices until they shall have first

Sec. 17. In all cases where by law it shall be the duty of the Commissioners' Court to approve the bond of any of the officers of their several counties, it shall be their duty, whenever they shall become satisfied that said bonds, from any cause, are insufficient, to require new bonds or additional security to be given, as the case may require; and said court shall cause the officer whose bond is complained of to be cited to appear at a term of their court, not less than five days after service of said citation; and if any citizen shall be dissatisfied with the action of the Court approving the bond of any officer, or if any citizen or officer shall be dissatisfied with the action of the Court in the matter of requiring a new bond or additional security, as herein provided, an appeal may be made from the decision of said Commissioners' Court to the District Judge of the county, whose decision shall be final; and when said appeal is taken by a citizen, written notice shall be served upon the officer interested within ten days after the order of the court on said bond.

Sec. 19. Sec. 20. That whenever a vacancy occurs in any Justice's precinct for Justice of the Peace or Constable, or when it becomes necessary to create a new precinct, in either case it shall be the duty of the County Commissioners' Court to fill the same by appointment until the next general election.

CHAPTER LVI.—An Act to suppress lawlessness and crime in certain parts of the State, and to make an appropriation therefor.

Whereas, In several counties in the Western part of the State the people are being depredated on, in person and property, by bands of criminal and lawless men too strong to be suppressed by the civil authorities unaided, and by bandits and robbers from Mexico; therefore, for the purpose of maintaining law and order, and giving security to that section against foreign invasion and domestic disturbance, and, for that purpose, to aid the civil authorities.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That the Governor is hereby authorized and required to immediately organize a company of fifty men, rank and file, to-wit: Forty-two privates, four sergeants, and four corporals; and, in addition thereto, there shall be one captain, one first lieutenant, and one second lieutenant; and, in the aggregate, said company shall consist of fifty-three men, noncommissioned officers, and privates.

That said company shall be mustered into the service of the State of Texas for the period of six calendar months, or longer should the Governor deem it necessary, in such manner as the Adjutant General may designate. Each officer, non-commissioned officer, and private thereof, shall furnish his own horse, saddle, bridle, rope, clothing, etc., for the entire term of service, and replace any or all of said articles, should it become necessary so to do.

Sec. 3. That the State of Texas shall furnish said company with arms, ammunition, camp and garrison equipage, and rations of subsistence for the men, and forage for the horses, and with transportation necessary to move said supplies. The arms shall be issued and charged to the men, and, in case any of said arms shall be lost through neglect or by disobedience of orders, the value thereof shall be charged upon the rolls as a stoppage against the party losing the same; but in no case, shall arms lost in the discharge of duty be so charged.

Sec. 4. The members of said company shall be allowed the following pay, to-wit: The captain one hundred and sixty-six dollars per month; the first lieutenant, one hundred and thirty-three dollars per month; the second lieutenant, one hundred and twenty-five dollars per month; the sergeants, fifty dollars each per month; the corporals, forty dollars each per month; and the privates, forty dollars each per month. The payments shall be made at such times and in such manner as the Adjutant General of the State may prescribe.

Sec. 6. That the officers, non-commissioned officers, and privates of said company shall be clothed with the powers of peace officers, and shall aid the civil authorities in the execution of the laws. They shall have authority to make arrests, and, in such cases, they shall be governed by laws regulating and defining the powers and the duties of Sheriffs when in discharge of similar duties. They shall, before entering upon the discharge of these duties, take an oath before some authority legally authorized to administer the same, that each of them will faithfully perform his duties in accordance with law. In order to arrest and bring to justice men who have banded together for the purpose of committing robbery or other felonies, and to prevent the execution of the laws, the officers, non-commissioned officers, and privates of said company, may accept the services of such citizens as shall volunteer to aid them; but while so engaged, such citizens shall not receive pay from the State for their services.

Sec. 8. That the sum of forty thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, be, and the same is hereby appropriated out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to carry out the objects of this act.

Sec. 9. That the fact of the existence of bands of lawless men in counties of this State, of their having prevented the execution of the laws, and placed the good people in various counties in continual fear of the commission of outrages upon their persons and property, constitutes a public necessity and emergency that this act take effect and it is hereby declared that the same go into effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Sec. 5. Persons out of the State may commit, and be liable to indictment and conviction for committing, any of the offenses hereinbefore enumerated, which do not in their commission necessarily require a personal presence in this State, the object of this act being to reach and punish all persons offending against its provisions, whether within or without the State, and indictments under this act may be presented by the grand jury of Travis county, in this State, or in the county where the offense was committed, or in the county where the land lies, about which the offenses in this act were committed.

CHAPTER LXIV.—An Act to regulate the laying out, opening and classifying and working of public roads in the State of Texas, and fixing penalties for a violation of certain sections therein named.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas, That the Commissioners' Courts of the several counties of this State shall have full power, and it shall be their duty, to order the laying out and opening of public roads, when necessary, and to discontinue or alter any road whenever it shall be deemed expedient, as hereinafter prescribed; and it shall be their further duty to classify all roads running through their several counties, into first, second and third-class roads.

Sec. 2. First-class roads shall be clear of all obstructions, and not less than forty feet wide, with all stumps over six inches in diameter to be cut down to six inches of the surface, and rounded off; all stumps six inches and under in diameter to be cut smooth with the ground, all causeways laid out at least sixteen feet wide; provided, that Commissioners' Courts shall have power to order a first-class road in such places as may be necessary to be wider than forty feet and not to exceed sixty feet.

Sec. 3. Second-class roads shall be clear of all obstructions, and not less than thirty feet wide; stumps six inches and over in diameter to be cut down within six inches of the surface, and rounded off; and all stumps less than six inches in diameter to be cut smooth with the ground; all causeways to be laid out at least sixteen feet wide.

Sec. 4. Third-class roads shall be clear of all obstructions, and not less than twenty feet wide; stumps six inches and over in diameter, to be cut down to within six inches of the surface and rounded off; all stumps less than six inches in diameter to be cut down smooth with the ground, and all causeways laid out at least twelve feet wide.

Sec. 5. The Commissioners' Courts of the several counties shall lay off their respective counties into road precincts, and shall at their first regular meeting in each and every year appoint an overseer for each road precinct, and shall at the same time designate all the hands liable to work on public roads under the different overseers in their county; and in case any hand or hands liable to work on roads, shall not have been designated by said Court, the overseer shall have power to summons them to work on the nearest public road to which they may live, as if they had been designated by the Court; provided, fifteen days' residence in the county be necessary to require the performance of said road service at the time said service is required; but if from any cause the Court should fail or neglect to perform the duties required in this section at its first meeting in the year, it shall be competent and legal for it to make such appointment and designation at a called meeting, or at any regular term; and in case a vacancy should occur in any road precinct by the death, removal or other inability of any overseer of the road in the county, it shall be the duty of the County Judge, immediately upon information of the same, to appoint an overseer to fill such vacancy, who shall be notified of his appointment as in other cases, and whose duty it shall be to serve until the first regular meeting of the Court in the next succeeding year.

Sec. 6. All public roads and highways that have heretofore been laid out and established agreeably to law, except such as have been discontinued, are hereby declared to be public roads, and the said Commissioners' Court shall in no instance grant an order on an application for any new road or to discontinue an original one, unless the persons making applications for the same or some one of them shall have given at least twenty days notice by advertisement of their intended application, posted up at the court-house door and two other public places in the vicinity of the route of the proposed new road, or the road proposed to be discontinued.

Sec. 7. All applications for a new road, and all applications to change or discontinue an original one, shall be by petition to Commissioners' Court, signed by at least eight freeholders of the road precinct or precincts in which said road is desired to be made, or discontinued, or changed; specifying in such petition the beginning and termination of such road proposed to be opened, changed, or discontinued.

Sec. 8. All roads hereafter ordered to be made shall be laid out by a jury of freeholders of the county, to be appointed by the Commissioners' Court; said jury shall consist of five persons, a majority of whom may proceed to lay out and mark the road so ordered, to the greatest advantage to the public, and as little prejudice to enclosures as may be, after taking the following oath before some person authorized to administer oaths, to-wit: "I, _____, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will lay out the road now directed to be laid out by the order to us directed from the Commissioners' Court, according to law, without favor or affection, malice or hatred, to the best of my skill, knowledge and ability. So help me God."

Sec. 9. No public road shall be surveyed or laid out upon or across any farm, lot or enclosure, without first obtaining the written consent of the owner or owners, his, her or their agent or attorney to the same, except as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 10. If such written consent should be refused, it shall be the duty of the Commissioners' Court to appoint five disinterested freeholders of the county as commissioners, a majority of whom may act, to view the same and assess the damages incidental to the opening of the road of the first, second or third class, through any part of said farm, lot or enclosure, as proposed; taking into consideration the advantages and disadvantages accruing to such person from the opening of such road, and report their action in writing, and under oath at the next regular term of the Commissioners' Court.

Sec. 11. If the owner or owners, his, her or their agent or attorney, of any enclosed land shall file in the Commissioners' Court a written protest against opening a road, viewed and marked out through the same, it shall be the duty of the Commissioners' Court to appoint five disinterested freehold citizens of the county as commissioners, a majority of whom may act, to review said road, assess the damages and report in manner and form as provided in the preceding section of this act.
